INDIA’S BEST EVER PERFORMANCE AT ASIAN GAMES

Vidhanshu Kumar

The recently concluded Asian Games in Jakarta has been a great success for the Indian contingent. With 69 Medals, 15 Gold, 24 silver and 30 bronze, this was the best medal haul in 68 years of Asian Games history for the Indian athletes. Not only did the Indian contingent create a new record, many individual athletes touched new heights and made a mark which nobody could do so far.

It is often said that sports doesn’t build character, it reveals it. The dictum was at full display during the Asian Games held in Indonesia. There were many shining lights for India during the Games.

Indian athletes shined brightly in the track and field events. Some athletes won more than one medal for our country. One such athlete is Hima Das who won two silver and one gold medal. In 400 meter dash, Hima won the silver medal while in two relay events she won one gold and another silver medal. Hima is the only athlete in the Indian contingent of more than 700 people who won three medals. Such was Hima’s performance that had she been a country, she would have finished at number 27 in the overall medals tally. In the mixed 4 x 400 meters relay events Hima won the silver medal. But her best performance was in women’s 4 x 400 meter relay event. Hima won the gold medal of this event with her three other relay partners.

Just like Hima Das, Dutee Chand was another gem in India’s crown. Dutee won two silver medals. Her first medal came in 100 meters sprint while she won another silver in 200 meters dash. This twenty year old athlete from Orissa who touched this mark and reminded one of PT Usha who did it in earlier Asian Games at South Korea in the 80’s.

Another excellent performance from track events came from middle distance runner Jinson Johnson who won one gold and one silver medal in 1500 and 800 meters events. The 1500 meter was a tremendous run that reminded one about the feats of Hischam el G. and Sebastian Coe in the Olympic Games.

India is one of the fastest growing economies in the world today. Recent surveys indicate that by 2030, it will be the third largest economy in the world just behind US and China. Couple this with the fact that we will have 50-70 million jobs created by 2020 and you have a fantastic opportunity in the making!

Coincidentally, India has the largest youth population in the world, almost a third of the Indians are between 15 and 29 years old making this country the world’s youngest with 64% of its population in the working age group.

By 2020, the average age of the country will be 29. All this has been possible as India has made significant progress in ensuring access to education for all through its Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan (Education for All) programme and the implementation of the landmark “Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education” (RTE) Act. Despite these achievements, challenges remain in moving beyond access, to a focus on learning and ensuring equity. Over one-third of children drop out before completing the full cycle of elementary education. The majority of children not in school are from vulnerable and marginalized groups, including from Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribe groups, religious minorities groups, and children with disabilities. Evidence also indicates that children are not learning at expected levels. According to the National Achievement Survey conducted by the National Council on Educational Research and Training, less than half the reading comprehension questions and mathematical questions posed in the survey were answered correctly by Class 5 students.

Now the key question is - how do we remain employable, excel in a job and survive the competition? What are Employability skills? Employability is related to work and the ability to be employed. The ability to gain initial employment. In simple terms the combination of qualities that make it easy for someone to get a job and keep a job.

Employability Skills can be defined as the transferable skills needed by an individual to make them ‘employ-able’. Along with good technical understanding and subject knowledge, employers often outline a set of skills that they want from an employee. Top in demand Employability skills

- Basic technology. There’s no way around it. You must be computer literate in today’s professional workplace.
- Communication. You must be able to communicate effectively, which means talking, listening and writing.
- Problem-Solving-Soft skills like problem-solving will always be in fashion. It is unavoidable to be faced with a challenge at some point in your career, and when it rises, you need to be able to step up to offer a reasonable solution.
- Willingness to Learn - If you think you know it all because you have spent three or more years studying the subject at College or University you are wrong! One should always be open and eager to learn new skills at work.
- Teamwork - To increase your employability chances, you not only have to prove that you’re a team player, but also have the ability to manage and delegate to others. You need to use an example of building positive relationships to help everyone and achieve a common goal.

Rote learning instills in students a sort of complacency for more than 12 years of education and they are unable to...
