NEW AGRICULTURE EXPORT POLICY TO SPUR EMPLOYMENT CREATION

Dr. S.P. Sharma & Ms. Surbhi Sharma

The role of the agriculture sector remains critical to the Indian economy as a large proportion of population still depends on agriculture directly or indirectly. The sector is a supplier of food, fodder and raw materials for a vast segment of industry. Hence, enhanced and stable growth of the agriculture sector is important not only for generating purchasing power among the rural people but also through its contribution to price stability, demand creation and employment creation in the economy.

Currently, India’s agriculture sector contributes to around 15-16% to GDP with the work force dependency still remaining at around 50%. The agriculture and allied sector grew at 3% (average) during 2012-13 to 2018-19. The Government has announced various initiatives to boost the growth of agriculture sector such as Minimum Support Price (MSP) at the rate of 1.5 times of the cost of farm produce, strengthening irrigation facilities, promoting organic farming, enhancing credit for farmers, crop insurance, timely updates on weather developments, strengthening road connectivity in rural areas, among others.

In a major breakthrough, the Union Cabinet has recently approved the Agriculture Export Policy 2018 with an objective to double farmers' income by 2022. In this regard, exports of agricultural products would play a critical role in achieving this objective. This breakthrough is expected to create immense employment opportunities in the agrarian and food processing sector. Shifting disguised unemployment from traditional agriculture to food processing and agriculture exports and creating new employment opportunities for growing young unskilled, semi skilled and skilled workforce.

Going ahead, integrating Indian farmers and agricultural products with global chains would be necessary to harness the export potential of Indian agriculture sector. The key objectives of the Agriculture Export Policy 2018 are as follows:

- To double agricultural exports from the present level of USD 30 billion to USD 60 billion by 2022 and reach to around USD 100 billion in next few years
- To diversify the export basket and boost high value and added agricultural products including focus on organic, traditional and non-perishables.
- To provide an institutional mechanism for pursuing market access, tackling market barriers and deal with sanitary and phyto-sanitary issues
- To double India’s share in world agriculture exports by integrating with global value chain at the earliest
- Enable farmers to get benefit of export opportunities in overseas market.

These reforms would go a long way and contribute to doubling the income of the farmers by 2022 in addition to improving the agriculture-infrastructure. It will not only uplift the agriculture sector but also create 50 million new job opportunities for growing youth population.

Multimedia Localization

Visuals, graphics, animations, GIFs, info-graphics - all this can be grouped under multimedia; and this is very important today, as more and more companies are creating multimedia content to widen their audience reach and keep them engaged. Localizing this content can get quite tricky though it may look simple from the outside - as it has to be appropriate for the local culture, and appeal to the customers in that region. If you don’t do it correctly, you could end up offending your audience - and drive them away.

Various types of translation require different ways of handling. As a result, many translators specialize in different fields of translation where they possess the best expertise and experience. It is very rare to find a translator who is able to handle all types of translation and produce high quality work.

Oral Translation

This translation is done by word of mouth. It is often referred as interpretation irrespective of the nature of the environment in which it takes place. It may be professional or nonprofessional.

Written translation

Here the translation is done in writing. The text is written from the source language into the target language and is presented in document form. The difference between the oral translation and written translation is very clear as we have defined them respectively. Whereas oral translation is performed by an interpreter, written translation is performed by a translator.

Computer/ machine based translation

This is a type of translation where translations are performed using programed software. The software analyses the text, detects the language and produces the translated version in the target language. However, the above major types of translations have several sub-fields or types of translations under them which include the following:

1. Literal translation
   - This is where the translation of a document is done on word-for-word translation basis. Here, sometimes the meaning of the whole document may not be given much attention but just translate each word the way it is from the original language to the target language.

2. Interpretive translation
   - This is more like the free translation where the meaning of the original and the translated document is presented in natural and easy understanding.

3. Faithful translation
   - These are translations that tend to remain faithful to the original text or document by trying hard to reproduce the contextual presentation and the cultural words used in the document when translating the document. Therefore, for any translator or translation agency to perfect their translation services, they have to fully understand the different types of translation and how to undertake them for better use of both the original and the translated document. Understanding these types of translation plays a significant role while undertaking any translation job. Translators need to determine which kind of translation fits which situation and environment rather than simply word conversions from one language to another.

When you need a translation service, it is therefore advised to consult a translation agency providing professional translation services.

services. This is because translation companies have a much better understanding of these translation types and they can guide individuals appropriately. This is to ensure perfect translation of a given text or word to match the audience, environment or situation. Translators always command different skills and expertise in their respective fields of translation. The best source to level a translation with skills relative to your requirement is through translation agencies. They always work hard to produce perfect translations for their clients.

Interpreter or Translation Courses in India

Education for Interpreters and Translators

A bachelor’s degree is typically needed to become an interpreter or translator along with proficiency in at least two languages, one of which is usually English.

High school students interested in becoming an interpreter or translator should take a broad range of courses that focus on foreign languages and cross-cultural writing and comprehension.

Beyond high school, people interested in becoming interpreters or translators have numerous educational options. Those in college typically choose a specific language as their major, such as Spanish or French. However, many jobs require a bachelor’s degree, majoring in a language is not always necessary. The American Sign Language organization, for example, requires sign language courses.

Moreover, students interested in sign language interpreting may take introductory classes in American Sign Language (ASL) and seek out volunteer opportunities to work with people who are deaf or hard of hearing.

Interpreter and Translator Training

Interpreters and translators generally do not need any formal training, as they are expected to be able to interpret and translate before they are hired. However, those working in court or medical facilities or medical interpreters or translators are more likely to complete job-specific training programs or certificates.

Occasionally, translation is a requirement for most state court and medical interpreting certification programs. It is offered by professional interpreter and translator associations such as the American Translators Association and the National Association of the Deaf. Interpreters and translators must be able to clearly and effectively in all of the languages in which they are working.

Writing skills. Translators must be able to write clearly and effectively in all of the languages in which they are working.

Qualification: There are diplomas, certificates, and degrees available with universities and other institutions; these are certificate, diploma and degree courses. Qualifications depend on the type of course. An acquaintance with a foreign language is always advisable for joining this field. This can be obtained through short-term courses or language learning, moving from basic to advanced levels with the institutions like Alliance Francaise (www.afindia.org) or Max Muller Bhavan (www.goethe.de/adw/c.detmla/indextm/htm).

More experienced interpreters and translators must be able to concentrate while others are speaking or moving around them.

Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf offer formal mentoring programs.

Announcement for Interpreters and Translators

After interpreters and translators have enough experience, they can move up to more difficult assignments: seek certification, and obtain editorial responsibility. They can also manage or start their own business.

Self-employed interpreters and translators choose to become self-employed as a means to advance. They may submit résumés to different translation and interpreting companies who will match their skills with various jobs. Many get work on the basis of their reputation or through referrals from clients or colleagues. Some may also start their own companies, where they hire other translators and interpreters to work for them.

Agriculture Export Policy to boost exports

For the promotion of agriculture exports and employment creation, the Government of India under the vibrant Agriculture Export Policy 2018 would be focusing on the following reforms to harness the export potential of Indian agriculture through policy instruments and to make India a global power in agriculture and raise farmers’ income.

- Policy measures and stable trade policy regime: The agriculture export policy will strengthen and encourage discussions with public and private stakeholders across the agricultural value chain in order to discuss emerging developments in the sector and highlight changes required to boost agricultural exports. Further, providing a policy assurance that the processed agricultural products and all kinds of organic products will not be brought under the ambit of any kind of export restrictions.

- Reforms in APMC Act and streamlining Mandi fee: The policy aims to put efforts with State Government in removing parish set from their Agricultural Produce Marketing Committees (APMC) Act. Further, consultation among the relevant stakeholders and Ministries to identify the commodities which are essential from food security perspective and barring such identified commodities under any kind of export restrictions will be promoted.

- Liberalizing land leasing norms: The policy focuses on liberalizing land leasing norms, promote value and organic cropping exim policy which provides a possibility of an extended farming area and expected to generate large scale private investments, promoting mechanization and, thus, produce surplus volumes of staple, horticulture and high quality of agricultural products.

- Infrastructure and logistics boost: The policy focuses on strengthening robust infrastructure which involves developing pre and post harvest handling facilities, storage and distribution, processing facilities, roads and world class exit infrastructure at facilitating trade. The policy focuses to compile all the logistics and infrastructure bottlenecks confronting different products by undertaking need-gap analysis of existing export oriented infrastructure across the value chain. Developing sea protocols for perishables will be promoted for long distance markets.

- Greater involvement of State Governments in Agriculture Exports: The policy focuses on identification of a nodal state department or agency for promotion of agriculture exports. The Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India will play a proactive role in supporting and handholding such nodal agency at the state level. Although many State Governments have come with export policy, however, the policy aims to promote the inclusion on agricultural exports in the State Exports Policy.

- Focus on clusters, promoting value added exports, promotion of R&D activities and marketing of agriculture products: The policy focuses on cluster development approach to boost the agricultural production in India. A similar approach in export centric clusters is likely to result in more focussed pre and post handling of the management of the produce as well as upgrading the supply chain to attain higher levels of exports in the coming times.

- It also focuses on product development for indigenous commodities and value addition through the management of the produce as well as upgrading the supply chain to attain higher levels of exports in the coming times.

Trend in India's agricultural exports

Over the years, India has been gradually integrating its agriculture with global markets and as a result, our exports of agriculture and allied products have grown. The key agriculture and allied export products from our country are broadly categorized into forty five categories which includes animal casing, development of organs, basmati rice, buffalo meat, cashew, cashew nut shell liquid, castor oil, cocoa products, coffee, cotton raw including waste, dairy products, floriculture, guargum, marine products, milled products, miscellaneous processed items, ornamental flowers, palm oil, processed fruits and juices, processed meat, processed vegetables, pulses, sesame seeds, sheep/goat meat, shellfish, spices, sugar, tea, manufactured and unmanufactured tobacco, vegetable oils, wheat and other cereals, meat, oil seeds.

The exports of agriculture and allied products have scaled upward from USD 24 billion in 2010-11 to USD 38 billion in 2017-18 with a growth rate of 12% (average) during the same period. As per the projections made in the Agriculture Export policy 2018, the agricultural exports would increase from the present level of more than USD 38 billion to USD 60 billion by 2022 and reach at around USD 100 billion in next few years.

Agriculture and allied trade balance scenario

The balance of trade of agriculture and allied products has remained in surplus during the last many years. The trade balance of agriculture and allied products was at around USD 13 billion in 2010-11 of which exports were at around USD 24 billion and imports at USD 11 billion. The trade balance increased to USD 15 billion in 2017-18 of which exports were at around USD 38 billion and imports at USD 23 billion.

Exports linked jobs created in the agriculture and allied sector

India has a large and abundant agriculture base and is among the world's leading producers of grains, oilseeds, sugar, and vegetables. A rich diversity of crops ranging from cereals, coconut, sugarcane, cashew nut, fruits, vegetables, tea, spices, coffee, cardamom, pepper, among others. India is supporting around 18% of world's population with about 2.4% of world's land and 4% water resources. Therefore, efforts and innovations towards productivity, pre and post harvest management, processing and value addition, use of technology, skill development and infrastructure creation are key areas for Indian agriculture. The total number of export supported jobs in agriculture and allied sector has increased from around 20 million (average) in 1999-2000 to 2005-06 period to more than 23 million in the recent times.

New Agriculture Export Policy to spur employment creation

Expected to create 20 million employment opportunities in the agriculture and food processing exports; shifting disguised unemployment from traditional agriculture to food processing and agriculture exports and creating new employment opportunities for growing young unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled workforce.

A well developed agriculture sector with higher level of processing helps in reduction of wastage, improves value addition, ensures better return to the farmers, promotes crop diversification, generate employment opportunities and increases export earnings. India is globally acknowledged as the leading producer of several agriculture and allied products. Globally, India is well known as the leading producer of milk, banana, mango, guava, papaya, ginger, okra, wheat, rice, fruits, vegetables, tea, sugarcane, cashew nut, cereals, coconut, lettuce, chicory, cardamom, pepper, among others. It gains from location advantage from the viewpoint of trade, due to its close proximity with Middle East, Africa, Europe from the western coast and Japan, Singapore, Thailand, Korea, Australia and New Zealand from the eastern coast.

Several incentives have been provided by the Government to push the growth and exports of agriculture sector. The following reforms under the vibrant New Agriculture Export Policy 2018 will help in increasing agriculture export and create employment opportunities in the coming times.

Reforms under New Agriculture Export Policy 2018

Stable trade policy regime

Infrastructure and logistics support

Greater involvement of State Governments in agriculture exports

Focus on cluster development

Promoting valued added exports

Marketing and promotion of Brand India

Promoting Research and Development

Reforms in APMC Act and streamlining mandi fee

Liberalising land easing norms

Development of organic export zones or organic food park

Developing uniform quality and packaging standards for organic and ethnic products

Promoting ease of doing business and digitization

Developing sea protocol for perishable products

Focus on self sufficiency and export orientation production

Creation of Agriculture-Startup fund to support entrepreneurs

On the back of supportive and conducive reforms for agriculture sector, the Agriculture Export Policy 2018 envisages to increase the exports of agriculture products to USD 60 billion by 2022 from the present level of around USD 38 billion in 2017-18. The vision of the policy supported with several dynamic and vibrant reforms in the coming times would be harnessing the export potential of Indian agriculture sector and spur employment creation in the coming times. It is estimated that 20 million export supported jobs will be created in the agriculture and food processing sector by 2022 in the areas of primary and secondary processing, preservation technology, product development, packaging, logistics, laboratory testing, food quality assurance and safety, research and development, related transportation, marketing and sales, among others.

Source: PHD Research Bureau, compiled from APEDA, EXIM and other sources.

Projections as per Agriculture Export Policy 2018, Government of India

Conclusions and suggestions

India is among the leading producer in the world of milk, ghee, pulses, ginger, sugarcane, cashew nut, cereals, coconut, cardamom, pepper, among others. It gains from location advantage from the viewpoint of trade, due to its close proximity with Middle East, Africa, Europe from the western coast and Japan, Singapore, Thailand, Korea, Australia and New Zealand from the eastern coast.

Ease of doing business: Availability of sound ease of doing business is critical for the growth of agriculture sector. A dedicated Investor Portal called ‘Nivesh Bandhu’ has been set up to facilitate and assist investors in taking informed decisions. There is a need to strengthen environment for providing one stop information source on various policy developments, incentives offered, agriculture supporting resources and infrastructure facilities across the country.

Promotion of cluster approach: Promoting cluster approach and setting up more agriculture based and food processing clusters would go a long way in supporting the individual entrepreneurs to sustain viable infrastructure facility at different stages in value chain. Promoting processing clusters and creating strong backward and forward linkages from farm gate to retail outlet through various measures including setting up of food parks/processing clusters with good fiscal and financial incentives is necessary to push growth of agriculture sector.

Infrastructure development: There is a need to improve physical infrastructure like access to road, strength rural connectivity and competitiveness of the agriculture sector. Priority should be given to strengthen rural connectivity to markets for building strong linkage between raw material supplier and processing units. The logistics, transport system and development of ports including dry ports should be promoted on PPP mode in the coming times.

Research and Development (R&D) and technology up gradation: R&D especially in areas like packaging, product development, food technology, among others needs to be strengthened. Provision of sponsored research and grants for promoting research related activities should be promoted from time to time. As small scale sector contribute a major chunk in food processing, they should be facilitated with technology upgradation facilities, ease of access to credit availability, market access, technical advice on productivity, marketing, selection of equipment and machinery, among others.

Implementation of quality standards/certification: Adherence to minimum quality/standard of food products for the international market is necessary to increase the share of Indian food processing products on global map. Awareness on quality of standards of food products need to be created through organizing large scale seminars, events, training programmes, among others. The food processing industry should strengthen its implementation module regarding global standards to increase their exports to several parts of the world in the coming times.

Ease of access to raw materials: Regular availability of raw material is important for ensuring competitiveness of food processing industries. The cost of raw material tends to be high due to higher transportation costs and wastage of raw materials during transportation. It is essential to reduce and strengthen supply chain network between raw material suppliers and processing units on PPP basis should be promoted.

Export marketing of products: Strengthening marketing and brand building of Indian products in foreign markets is critical to enhance exports of agricultural products in the coming times. There is need to embark upon the promotional campaigns to promote high value added products in India food products in developed markets. Further, there is need to promote an environment of undertaking market studies either in-house or engaging any research firm before launching any product or entering into a new market.

Encourage training and skill development: Small scale and unorganized food processing units generally hold a large section of unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled rural workers. In order to create better and favourable working environment, there is need to promote training and skill development of manpower, continuous technology up gradation, diversification and marketing of products, enhancement of knowledge about food safety and requirements, among others.

The 5th India-Bangladesh Joint Consultative Committee Meeting was held in New Delhi. External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj and Foreign Affairs Minister of Bangladesh Dr Abdul Momen co-chaired the meeting. In a tweet, External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Raveesh Kumar said Mrs Swaraj and Mr Momen took stock of progress in security, defence, trade and connectivity, development partnership, water, power and energy sectors and consular and cultural cooperation. The last Joint Consultative Committee Meeting between the two countries was held in October 2017 at Dhaka. Earlier, Mrs Swaraj had a bilateral meeting with Mr Momen.

France recalled its ambassador to Rome in a move unprecedented since World War II saying it was fed up with “repeat- ed, baseless” attacks by Italian political leaders on the country. The move came amid mounting tensions between the two European Union members after Italy’s deputy Prime Minister met French yellow vest protesters. France’s foreign ministry recalled its ambassador to Rome for consultations after a series of comments from Italy’s two deputy prime ministers, Luigi Di Maio and Matteo Salvini. Di Maio and Salvini, who formed a populist coalition government together last year, have repeatedly criticised French President Emmanuel Macron, who has, in turn, targeted their “eurosceptic actions” before high-stakes European Parliament elections in May.

Reserve Bank of India in its bi-monthly monetary policy has reduced repo rate by 25 basis points to 6.25 per cent. RBI’s six-member monetary policy committee also brought down reverse repo rate to 6 per cent. The repo rate is the rate at which the Reserve Bank lends short-term money to the banks, while the reserve repo rate is the rate at which the central bank borrows money from commercial banks. It was the first policy review by the RBI after appointment of its governor Shaktikanta Das in December last year.

RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das has announced that the limit of collateral free agricultural loans has been increased from one lakh to 1.6 lakh. Mr. Das said this move will enhance coverage of small and marginal farmers in the formal credit system.
