"If you make customers unhappy in the physical world, they might each tell six friends. If you make customers unhappy on the internet, they can each tell 6,000" - Jeff Bezos (Founder and CEO, Amazon).

Consumerism, significance of consumers in the market, growing awareness among consumers are some contemporary landmarks in the growth of the consumer movement in India. As consumers we are victims of many unfair and unethical practices adopted by the industry and the business. We come across many glitches related to defective goods, deficiency in service, food adulteration, spurious goods, hoarding, use of deceptive and fractional weights, late deliveries, variations in the prices, deceptive and fractional weights, spurious goods, hoarding, service, food adulteration, across many glitches related to many unfair and unethical consumers we are victims of contemporary landmarks in the physical world.

At the present age of the cut-throat competition, a career in cricket and the success as a cricket player are fraught with challenges. To survive and succeed in this war-like situation, a prospective cricket player must have the following professional qualities to survive as one of the most successful players of cricket.

- Adaptability to accept odd circumstances of international cricket like those of culture, cuisine, creed, language, weather, unfavourable audiences and fan followers of the foreign countries.
- Cricket is a dynamic sport where the players are expected to bowl, bat and field for hours and for the perfection of which what you need most is the very good physical fitness and mental stoicism.
- Excellently skilled in athleticism, fitness, attitude, batting, bowling and fielding.
- The aspiring player must be proficitent in these eight segments of cricket - batting, bowling, fitness, skill to brave the tense circumstances, fielding, running between the wickets, bowling in the danger zone, dealing with balls accurately to duck being out and, most importantly, perspicacity of taking on - the - spot decision.
- An aspirant must be punctual and indomitably determined to reach out one’s goal.
- Must possess talent in one or all the three aspects of cricket - bowling, batting and fielding.

The New Consumer Protection Bill, 2018 envisages to speed up dispute resolution mechanism. By establishing Central Consumer Protection Authority, it would help in protection of consumer rights of holders in India, it is hoped that the new Consumer Protection Act would overcome the limitations of the existing law and it would give a big boost to the consumer movement.

With the Indian economy and Indian industry growing leaps and bounds and with the changing market environment the Bureau of Indian Standards BIS Act, 2016 has been promulgated. BIS has also developed a consumer-friendly App called CARE, which can be used to access the information and lodge a complaint against an ISI marked product/ hallmarked item. BASIC INFORMATION
All the important international cricket formats are grouped into the following three categories -
1. International Test Matches
2. One Day International Matches, and
3. T20 International Matches

The domestic cricket consists of the following formats of cricket matches:
1. First Class, and
2. List A and
3. T20 Matches

It does not mean that all aspiring cricket players end up succeeding as the hero players of the entire gamut of cricket formats. Majority of the players have to work hard to prepare and try to specialize themselves in a particular format or sometimes two of them. The players who want to play only T20 matches restrict themselves with T20 cricket and so do the players who are playing with T20 Premier League. However, it is another thing that these players are also chosen for playing for T20 International Cricket Matches of India.

As far as the selection of the players for the different formats of the cricket is concerned, it is the governing body of the cricket of that country which makes selection of the players. For example, BCCI (The Board of Control of Cricket in India) is

COMMUNICATION OF CRICKET - HOW TO START?

For entering the world of cricket with the ambition of making it as one's career, an aspirant has two choices. The first choice starts right from the school from where one can launch into the world of cricket. School cricket matches pave the way for matches and tournaments played at the inter-college and university level.

We have yet another very popular choice to enter the professional cricket world which requires very hard labour. And this avenue to cricket world is called as the "Open Cricket" which is comparatively harder than those cricket matches which are played at school, college and university levels.

The Open Cricket Matches are conducted by various cricket associations which have no connection with that of school, college and university level matches.

Each district has a District Association in the country. All the players of that particular district further make the State Association. The District Association committee usually selects the promising cricketers for the further matches at the district level. For this the District Association selection committee usually minutely observes the performance of the players and the basis of their personal performance players are chosen and the team is formed.

On the basis of the performance of the aspiring players at district level, they get the opportunity to play for the State. Further on the basis of the performance of the players at the state level, the national level selection committee makes the selection of the players for the national level team.

The performance of the players at the Inter-divisional tournaments becomes the parameter of the selection of Ranji Trophy teams. These camps serve as the rigorous training centre of the selected players under the guidance of the famous coaches of various State Associations and sometimes under the guidance of famous retired international cricketers. These trainee players also play various tournaments which are meant to check the performance of the players who is assigned with the Ranji Trophy and national team of India as well.

The performance of the players in the Ranji Trophy Team is also considered very crucial because the Ranji Trophy has the reputation of being the entrance test of the Ranji Trophy one's state and nation. Even if you fail to shine at these matches, presently more than 7 cricketers who are under the guidance of the renowned coaches of various State Associations and sometimes under the guidance of famous retired international cricketers. HOW ARE THE PLAYERS SELECTED FOR NATIONAL CRICKET TEAM?

Ranji Trophy is considered as another golden passport to the cricket team of India. The Ranji Trophy is organized by the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) which is the national governing body of cricket in India. It is also the most crucial stage for the aspiring cricket players. It is the first choice for many aspiring cricket players to make their way to the national team. For this the District Associations and cricket clubs also get the opportunity to play for the prestigious Ranji Trophy. So, the most crucial question is, when you are usually in your primary school and for this better it would be if you get yourself enrolled in a cricket team at local level or a local club.

Practice makes a man perfect. Therefore, you need to consistently practice every day and play the Ranji Trophy tournaments so that you can participate in as many cricket matches as possible. Your excellence in the school and college level tournaments and matches would enable you to get selected for the district level tournaments. In the district level tournaments, a division consists of many districts. For the selection at division level, selection trials are conducted on the basis of selection criteria of which are determined on the basis of the players' performance in district level tournaments. The inter-district tournaments are held the performance of which also gives a chance to the promising players to make their way to the Ranji Trophy and national level team of India as well.

Ministry of Consumer Affairs is responsible for the formulation of policies for consumer welfare in India. The ‘Jago Grahak Jago’ multi media campaign launched in the Year 2005 has been a huge success and the slogan has now become a household name. In the Year 2015 the Gama portal and Grahak Suvitma Kendras were launched to empower the common man.

To empower consumers as India goes digital many new schemes have been started by the government. In this article as we celebrate the World Consumer Right's Day I discuss two important developments in the area of consumer protection.

India is the fastest growing E-Commerce market amongst the top global economies and the online retailing has transformed how business is done in India. According to a report the e-retail market is growing at 33% and by 2026 the E-Commerce is expected to grow to $200 billion. E-Commerce activities are governed by various Regulations and Acts of the Government. Information Technology Act 2000 offers legal recognition for the transactions carried out by means of electronic data interchange and other means of electronic communication, which involve the use of alternatives to paper-based methods of communication and storage of information. E-commerce companies need to meet the rules with the Companies Act, 2013 and other applicable laws of the country. Such companies with FDI can operate only in activities which are specifically permitted. Any violation of FDI regulations are covered by the penal provisions of the FEMA. Reserve Bank of India administers the FEMA and Directorate of Enforcement under the Ministry of Finance is the authority for the enforcement of FEMA. Further, activities of e-commerce companies inter alia involve compliance of Shops and Establishments Act of the State concerned.

The Consumer Protection Act, 1986 enacted for better protection of the interests of the consumers covers all goods and services and all mode of transactions including e-commerce. Under this Act, a three tier quasi-judicial mechanism, called Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission and Forum, has been set up at the District, State and National levels to provide simple, quick and inexpensive redressal to consumer disputes. From August 2016, the portal www.consumerhelpline.gov.in has been developed to provide a platform to consumers to register their complaints. Moreover, National Consumer Helpline (NCH) set up by the Department of Consumer Affairs receive complaints from consumers who have made purchases whether in online or offline mode. It has collaborated with 400 companies to resolve consumer's complaints and is an alternate grievance redressal method available to consumers.

Further, the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) has a consumer affairs department to provide consumers with prompt attention and speedy redressal of their grievances lodged regarding quality of BIS certified products.

Recently a research on online shopping revealed that 1 in 5 products sold by e-retailers are counterfeits and fake and the chances of fake products are the highest in case of fragrances, cosmetics, sporting goods and bags. Delhi High Court in a step towards ensuring duplicate products of popular brands are not sold on online marketplaces, directed an online portal company to make sure that each item up for sale on its site is authentic. Intermediaries, according to the Information Technology (IT) Act, includes e-commerce sites as they provide services to customers on behalf of sellers. The court also said that the websites should take an authentication from all sellers that the product displayed on the website are genuine and not duplicates and counterfeits. Apart from that, the sites are also directed to obtain a certificate or a guarantee from its sellers that goods sold on the platform are genuine, all warranties and guarantees of the brands are applicable and would be honoured. Products of any sellers who are unable to provide such a guarantee would not be offered on the platform.

Hallmarking Scheme

India's total consumption of gold is 800-850 tonnes out of which 60% comes from the rural markets. To provide third party assurance and satisfaction that consumers are getting right purity of gold (or silver) for the given price (value for money) the hallmarking scheme has been introduced by BIS. Hallmarking is the accurate determination and official recording of the proportionate content of precious metals. Hallmarks are thus official marks used in many countries as a guarantee of purity or fineness of precious metal articles. In India, at present two precious metals namely gold and silver have been brought under the purview of Hallmarking.

- Jeweller's Identification Mark/number

In order to avoid frauds in gold and silver jewellery consumers should buy hallmarked jewellery and should keep the authentication certificate safely.

Conclusion: The success of consumer movement in the country depends upon the awareness amongst the people, especially consumers in rural areas about their rights. Observance of the World Consumer Right's Day goes a long way in generating awareness amongst consumers about their rights and the existence of redressal agencies. Voluntary consumer organisations and educational institutions can play an important role in strengthening the consumer movement. Consumers are also bound to take adequate care and empowered while dealing with offline and online purchases in order to safeguard their own interest in the market.

to rise to their expectations they do not take much time to pelt stones on your houses and hurl shoes and rotten eggs on your faces. Bricks are there in the same number so are bouquets. So the task of a cricket player is not so much easier as much we feel elated and jealous to watch them.

Therefore for a grand and much-wished success and long-survival in the arena of cricket an aspiring youngster must take into the consideration the following points very seriously-

ALL DO NOT HAVE THE SAME OPPORTUNITIES

It is a bitter fact that urban youths have more opportunities to become a successful cricketer vis-a-vis that of rural urchins. However, this is not any hard and fast rule. But the youth from towns and cities have more facilities and exposure and as a result they can very easily get enrolled with the cricket association and trained in the academy run by it. Moreover, the urban candidates have access to a number of cricket clubs and private cricket coaching institutes. But it does never mean that rural people do not have any chance to be a star cricketer. The rural aspirants have more time and better concentration to devote to their favourite play of cricket. So it is never the matter of any disappointment when you do not come from an urban locality.

BECOME AN ALL-ROUNDER PLAYER

The world of cricket has undergone a host of drastic changes over the past a few decades and it has only one success mantra and it is “Survival of the fittest”.

You need to hone yourself to fit in all roles of the sport of cricket like those of bowling, batting and fielding. If you fail once to score a fifty or century... no problem, you can considerably lead your team to victory by preventing every fast speeding ball coming from the bat going to boundary and across the boundary. You may not take a single wicket on a certain day—no problem, you can prove your inevitability in the team by scoring a few much-needed runs to see your team win the match. Hence, getting proficiency in all the segments of the cricket proves to be the sure-shot formula for ensuring one’s birth in the team of the country.

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF AND HAVE INDOMITABLE PATIENCE

You must have got bewildered and angered having found your star cricket players standing on the crease and failing to score even a single from a score of balls bowled to him. But the reality on the crease is so bizarrely different from the cosy seats of the stadium from where the audiences watch their heroes play the cricket.

The bottom line is that cricket requires a very high level of courage and patience to brave the adverse situation in and out of the stadium. Not only this, you also need to be very patient when you fail to make it to the national list of the players despite your hard labour, sincere effort and sole dedication. Keep playing more of the matches which will ultimately perfect you in it. Besides, you need to be very mentally strong. Keep yourself away from negative comments and criticisms which are so natural when your fans expect so much from you and dream so earnestly to become like you.

In this sport of uncertainty, there is only one time-tested rule of success which the would-be cricketer must not afford to forget, “Look always to your laurels rather than sitting on your laurels.”
