INDIA’S POTENTIAL AS TEXTILE SOURCING HUB FOR GLOBAL BRANDS

Dr. Ranjeet Mehta

India enjoys a unique advantage of having abundant raw materials and presence of manufacturing in all segments of the textile value chain but it’s yet to become the most favored destination for sourcing by International Brands. The Textile & Apparel industry is one of the largest and the most important sectors for the Indian economy in terms of output, foreign exchange earnings and employment. It also provides direct employment to over 45 million people and is the second largest provider of employment after agriculture. As per the WTO in its World Trade Statistical Review 2018, India is ranked as 5th largest exporter of Ready Made Garments (RMG) in the world. Given that Ready Made Garments manufacturing units can be viable at all size levels, particularly because of low cost of plant and machinery, the units range from small to large. Consequently, the RMG sector continues to be dominated by unorganized players. However, the branded apparel market has made inroads in the past few years. The decentralized power looms and knitting sector forms the largest section of the textile sector. The major sub-sectors that comprise the textile sector include the organized cotton/manmade fiber textile mill industry, the manmade fiber/flament yarn industry, the wool & woollen textile industry, the sericulture and silk textiles industry, handlooms, the jute & jute textiles industry and textiles exports. As per the data, Indian Textile industry is one of the largest in the world with a large raw material base and manufacturing strength across the value chain. India is the largest producer and the second largest exporter of cotton in the world. India is also the leading consumer of cotton. Domestic Textile and apparel industry contributes 2% to India’s GDP and accounts for 14% of industrial production, 27% of the country’s foreign exchange inflows and 13% of country’s export earnings with huge potential to grow. This sector is all the more important because it’s dominated by women workers, with 70% of the workforce being women. To me this is one sector which can uplift rural women from abject poverty and also goes with the empowering women in the larger interest of India. If we look closely, the Indian textile and apparel sector, the sub-sectors of weaving, processing and garmenting are fragmented and lack the requisite scale for success in global markets. Most of the manufacturing units have small capacities and low manufacturing efficiencies which make it difficult for them to compete in global markets. At 50% of world production, India is the largest producer of raw jute and jute

UPCOMING CAREER OPPORTUNITIES IN BANKS-II

Give more attention to the areas in which you find yourself weak: Human beings are not computers in which everything is programmed and standardized. So it is alright if we’re weak in few areas and strong in other areas. The most important thing is to overcome this weakness and turn this into a strength. The standard curriculum which we pursue in school and college rarely includes a major part of tests which we are expected to attempt in a competitive examination of banking, insurance etc. So, if a fresher just out of college finds initial discomfort while going through questions of reasoning, quantitative aptitude etc, there is nothing unusual about it. However one should appreciate the fact that if we really want to succeed in the competition, we’ve to learn, practice and possibly master what is expected to be you don’t need to be a Shakespeare for English or a Ramanujam for Mathematics. It is also possible that one finds weakness only in certain particular areas of a subject. For example in English one may be confused about the use of articles (a, an, the) or may face difficulty with regard to tenses. The need is to be aware of the topics where you need more preparation. Your allocation of time should be in accordance to that.

Initial focus on qualifying in preliminary examination: When you apply for a competitive examination which has more than one part you have to adopt an strategy which is slightly different from the one adopted for a single phase examination. Of course, in both the cases your objective is to come out as a winner.

For RRBs and PSBs, as the so called written examination is divided in two stages, you need to make sure that you qualify in both the examination, but as we know unless you’re not in the merit list of preliminary examination, you’ll not get to appear in the main examination and in case of officers one will be called for interview only after qualifying in both preliminary and
The textiles dates back to the hundreds of years. The history of textiles is likely to remain robust from end-user segments, supported by a strong rise in private consumption expenditure during the rest of FY19. We have seen in past four years, there have been serious efforts and measures taken by the government like allowing 100 per FDI and Technology Upgradation Fund Scheme to accelerate textile industry’s growth. But the industry needs to take initiatives to focus on innovation and value addition for improving global competitiveness. We have to come up with innovative and exclusive products if we desire to expand our footprint in the global market. The continued growth and global competitiveness of the textiles industry can drive the economy to new heights.

Most of the international brands like Marks & Spencer, JC penny, and Gap acquired major portion of their fabrics from India. According to reports, the Indian Textile Industry covers 61 per cent of the international textile market and over 20 per cent of the global market. The domestic demand for textiles is likely to remain robust from end-user segments, supported by a strong rise in private consumption expenditure during the rest of FY19. Also, textile exports are likely to rise, with apparel exporters benefitting from the depreciation of the Indian rupee against the major trading partners like United States, China and European countries.

Tell us about the pivot role CSIR has played in the field of scientific and industrial research in the past 2-3 decades.

You have said past 2-3 decades, but let me take the liberty of starting from the beginning. So when we became independent in 1947, we were not self reliant in anything. We were importing food, we were importing clothing and everything was coming from outside and one of the major challenges before the nation was how to become self reliant in every aspect of our life and CSIR actually started working towards its objective from the very beginning. And one of the first achievements of CSIR was how to empower every citizen of the country. The first invention in India, which is the generic link used in elections is a technology given by CSIR to Mysore Inks. CSIR participated very significantly in the 1960s in the first green revolution. The entire mechanism of agriculture was spearheaded by CSIR labs including developing the first indigenous tractor Swaraj, which was ultimately developed in our Durgapur Laboratory. We also developed many pesticides etc. Subsequently, from 1970s to 1990s was an era of technology denial by the world to India. So we had to develop the technology independently by reverse engineering.

Tell us about the contribution of CSIR to the healthcare sector.

Way back in the 1970s and 80s when new diseases such as AIDS were emerging, the first medicine which became available for HIV therapy was extraordinarily expensive, no Indian company was able to do that. We are working on technologies which have been developed in our laboratories which are world class and can help tackle that kind of problem. We have been continuously working towards that. Laboratories working in the field of infectious diseases is now getting world class recognition for the work they have been doing in the last few years.

Tell us about the job opportunities for scientists in CSIR.

We have 6000 odd scientist positions across 37 labs and the New Delhi Headquarters, out of which roughly 3000 posts are filled. We are just looking to fill up these posts in the next 10-15 years. We don't want to fill them up in one go but want to see the emerging fields where we would be needed. So we are trying to fill up roughly 10-15 % vacancies every year.

Tell us about the job opportunities for scientists in CSIR.

The administrative jobs in CSIR are of typically three kinds - one is General Administration and Establishment, second is Stores and Purchase and the third is Finance and Accounts. We have large number of vacancies as well and we would be looking to fill them up in the near future.

Do you go the extra mile to retain talent, is CSIR a pay master with attractive packages?

Yes, indeed it is. CSIR's principle role is to be the absolute standard of the art infrastructure which no other laboratory could even dream of. For example the wind tunnel in the National Aerospace Laboratories is the only one in India where you have it. Even Defence sector and Space sector use our Wind Tunnel for testing missiles and space shuttles. That is a major attracting point for people to come to us. We offering scientific atmosphere in all our labs.

Are you aligning your aims and objectives with our national priorities.

This is absolutely essential. For any organization in the government or the scientific agencies of the nation are the highest priorities of that organisation. It is true for CSIR as well. All the programs that you see which are government approved like Swachh Bharat, Swasth Bharat we are participating significantly in all those programs. Whatever the Govt feels is right for the country or for the society CSIR is an enthusiastic partner in all these programs.

Where do you see CSIR headed in the next 5-10 years.

CSIR's principle role is to become self reliant in anything. We work on technologies which will benefit the society immediately. Large group of people are concerned but still we have not taken the extra mile to look for a different path and should lead a very respectable life, like the Aroma mission which I mentioned is a part of that particular effort. We will not be able to reach the society unless there is a thrust and a priority connect. We do not have the wherewithal to take the technologies ourselves to the field, we will have to partner with the industry. All the work that we do in CSIR is very industry oriented. Many of the large corporate have taken technology from us. There are many success stories which we will talk about. Amul milk powder is our technology, Tata iodised salt, Tata Swatch and many more. We also work with small and medium enterprises, they become our social responsibility to promote innovation and technology transformation. They also become our vehicles to reach the society. Another important aspect is that any technology that has to be backed up by very strong science and therefore CSIR labs do very science. (The interviewer S. The importance of human relationships and personhood. Gandhi’s nonviolent communication theory included the valuing of nonviolence as a way of being in the world, but he also stressed the importance of individual relationships and friendships. This message was manifested in Gandhi’s rhetoric and is a characteristic of his nonviolent communication theory. For Gandhi, openness included communication practices such as free speech and press, public discussion, and direct negotiation. His writings and his action are the guiding post of nonviolent communication. For instance, in Harjian, he wrote: “My writings cannot be poisonous, they must be free from anger, for it is my special religious conviction that we cannot truly attain our goal by promoting ill will. There cannot be room for untruth in my writings, because it is my unshakable belief that there is no religion other than truth. My writings cannot but be free from hypocrisy, for it is my firm belief that it is love that sustains earth.”

Mahatma Gandhi was an avid letter writer. The role of letter writing in the evolution of nonviolent communication has been encapsulated by Gandhi himself. He writes in his autobiography, “For me, it became a means for the study of human nature in all its casts and shades, as I always aimed at establishing an intimate and close bond between the editor and the readers. I was inundated with letters containing the outpourings of my correspondents’ hearts. They were friendly, critical or bitter, according to the temper of the writer. It was a fine education for me to study, digest and answer all this correspondence. It was as though the community thought audibly through this correspondence with me. It made me thoroughly understand the responsibility of a journalist, and the hold I secured in this way over the community made the future campaign workable, dignified and irresistible.”

For greater understanding of nonviolent communication, it would be pertinent to familiarize ourselves on what nonviolent communication really means. Senior Gandhian, Natwar Singh, related a brief explanation of the central idea of nonviolent communication, for quick reference, it would be useful delineate the different elements of nonviolent communication. These include:

1. Caring. In the way we communicate with others—be it verbal, nonverbal, our thoughts and images.
2. We should learn to communicate with ourselves and self-introspect.
3. Use of appropriate and positive language.
4. Expansion of our emotional vocabulary.
5. Avoiding stereotypes in our communication efforts.
6. Avoid moral judgements.
7. Avoid criticism and evaluative communication.
8. Avoid being aggressive.
9. Role of mutual respect in communication.
11. Empathetic understanding helps us understand others point of views.
12. Strong belief in the power of love.
13. Connecting with needs of others.
14. Importance of flexibility in our communication.
15. Practicing deep and empathetic listening skills.
16. Expressing gratitude in our communication.

In the context of the above elements, it can be argued that by using the tools kit of nonviolent communication, we can practice humanism at all times of our lives, it will help us to act humbly even at most challenging situations. As our emotional vocabulary expands, we will start revisiting how on expressing ourselves and listen to others. We will get into the habit of understanding and respecting connections and become more self-aware. In today’s world, where differences of opinions are frequent causes of conflict, developing empathetic connections is critical. Gandhi had aptly said, “Three-fourths of the miseries and misunderstandings in the world will disappear, if we step into the shoes of our adversaries and understand their standpoint. We will then agree with our adversaries quickly or think of them charitably. Also, as a nonviolent communicator, we are already meeting the needs and those of others. A large number of conflicts get solved easily when we are able to critically understand the other person. With this understanding, we could develop nonviolent communication which can be the cause of various diseases. In contrast, when we are not empathetic, and we communicate in a negative way, we cause anger and pain and may even lead to violence. Even with the best intentions, we can generate conflict by communicating in a nonviolent way. We must learn how to communicate effectively with each other so that their lives and relationships are transformed.”

Finally, all of us like to take healthy food for our nourishment and health. Unhealthy food makes us sick. Similarly, all of us need healthy communication and strengthen our relationships. Polluted air makes us depressed and can be the cause of various diseases. Communication like food is vital for the proper functioning of each and every individual. As we cannot communicate and it is part of our existence, it is significant that we indulge in conflict or healthy communication which will nourish us. Many times, we indulge in unhealthy communication. Our ego, envy, pride, superiority, and superiority, differences with our own, our own life conditions and many other reasons could be the reason for not following healthy and unhealthy communication. We don’t have the patience to listen to others, we are not self-aware, and unknowingly we are contributing to social cohesion. We need to involve in a way in which healthy communication is stressed us and provides us with a sense of well-being. Our communication should be able to plug the gap of happiness inequally and contribute to the nurturing of positive emotions. Hence for all these reasons, competent and nonviolent communication should be introduced in all our institutions. Right from primary level to higher education, it should be taught in forms of governance structure, integration of nonviolent communication will lead to a healthy and happy society contributing to social cohesion and solidarity.

To conclude, it would be apt to say that “without the centrality of nonviolent communication in our daily lives: Words have both the power to uplift and to wound, and words are both true and kind, they can change our world.”

main examination. Your comprehensive preparation will cover all the sections included in preliminary and main examination, nevertheless you'll do well if a couple of weeks before you focus entirely on the sections included in preliminary examination. There have been cases of candidates who worked very hard and couldn't qualify in main examination, but didn't fare well enough to make the merit list of preliminary examination. You need strategic preparation, not just preparation. It's good that in the preliminary examination, candidates are administered just two sections. Also to relaunch your preparation for the main examination, you better don't wait till the results of first examination are announced. It will be in your own interest to not lose any time.

Applying for multiple (more than one) positions: Many candidates are in dilemma if they should apply for just one position or should try for more than one position. To clarify a situation is explained. Miss A is a graduate and by virtue of her qualification, she is eligible to appear in civil services as well as to appear in all of the four banking examination (clerk and officer in RRBs and for the same positions in PSBs). If she is only keen to become anIAS officer with no interest whatsoever in a banking job, she may keep away from the process which we've been discussing in this article. On the other side take another candidate Mr B who is clear that he doesn't want to become a civil servant (for reasons of aptitude or whatever) and finds a banking career attractive. He doesn't have to apply to Union Public Service Commission for appearing in Civil services examination. After this he is left with many different choices. He may apply for positions of officers in both sets of banks or for positions of clerks in both sets of banks. The other option is his applying to only one set of banks for both the positions or for any one position (clerk or officer) in both sets of banks.

There will also be candidates who will fill a single application for one particular position in only one set of banks. There are candidates who only want to become officers and there are candidates who have already concluded that they can't become officers and apply for only clerical positions. Also it is not difficult to find people who don't want to work in villages and who will never apply for a job in RRBs.

We've to be more judicious here and consider applying for both positions in both set of banks. In this process you'll be required to make four applications. Except for those who have strong reasons not to follow the above, this recommendation may be worth while taking into consideration the following www.jobriya.in

- The fee you pay for 4 examinations is not much compared to increased in possibilities of selection, if you prepare well.
- The test pattern is largely similar for clerical and officers position, so the candidate is not required to make separate preparation. You have to make only some additional preparation and work with different set of questions, as the difficulty level may be somewhat higher in case of test for officers. All said and done you've to make an integrated preparation.
- In comparison to many other organizations, promotion is easier in RRBs and PSBs. So even if you join as a clerk, you may look forward to getting promoted as an officer. In many PSBs promotion from clerical to officers' cadre is happening with 2-3 years. One qualification marks will vary from bank to bank depending on vacancies and other policies.
- One wise step would be to pass the associate examination of the Indian Institute of Banking and Finance as early as possible after you join a bank. For this qualification additional marks are allotted in the promotion process. You get extra increments also. If one is keen to become officer earlier, the option to apply in the next selection process of IBPS is always available while working. There have been large number of cases of young people joining as a clerk and then becoming an officer in the same or other bank, by qualifying in the new process that followed.

Preparation before the test

Depending on the time available to you on daily/weekly basis, you should formulate your strategy for preparation. Some of the factors you have to keep in mind are- having limited extra time everyday while some would be out of college/university and have enough exclusive time for preparation. You've to make sure that your preparations do justice to all sections. Your preparation has to be at three levels- (1) Understanding the style and pattern of questions in different segments, (2) finding ways to solve them and (3) practice. Along with this you have to make yourself better equipped in terms of knowledge for succeeding in the test. To illustrate, for general awareness, financial awareness, banking and computer you've to take help of general knowledge books, magazines and other material. For language papers you need to refer to the grammar part, idioms and phrases etc.

There are exam preparation guides available in the market covering all tests. You may take one or two such guides. Many competitive magazines (mostly published monthly) provide pattern of questions in different sections. Studying these closely will benefit you. In case of solved papers, you may attempt the questions without looking at answers and then check how you have fares. Also there are practice books available. If some of your friends or acquaintances are also to appear in the exam, such resources can be shared with them. With planned group study you get benefitted and keep yourself inspired.

Using web resources today's tech savvy generation keeps exploring web contents. If you search on internet, you'll find ample material which can help you in your test preparation. Test pattern, test analysis, sample papers, guidance to navigate the test; all these can be found. You've to be a little discreet in your search and separate wheat from the chaff. Needless to add that it is necessary to make a preparation schedule and follow that.

Strategy during the test

In case of multiple choice question, as we all know, out of the 4-5 given choices, only one matches the required answer and one has to identify that. Here two distinct approaches can be possible-one is selection and the other is elimination. In questions where you are sure of the one option which is correct, you may easily mark your choice. Otherwise you should adopt the approach of elimination. Options about which you are sure that these are not the correct option should be kept aside and final choice should be made from the remaining answers. Even if you decide to randomly mark the answer, when you find that there is not enough time to deliberate on remaining questions, you should make your choice after leaving out least possible answers.

It is very important to read the question right to know how to answer it. Since the time given is limited, it will be good if you can understand the question in one reading only. Also you should use your keyboard skills to the fullest by using minimum time in clicking at the chosen option or moving from one question to other or changing your answer, where you decide to do so, etc.

It has been found that a large number of candidates are not able to attempt all the questions. Their time gets over before reaching the last question. The sad part of this situation, for a candidate is missing out some of those questions in which she could have easily scored. So when you find that lot many questions are remaining and time is running out, don't get stuck up at a particular question and move forward. At the end if you're left with time, you may come back to the earlier question(s).

Don't think that the answers would be obvious. This may happen with few questions. You should be ready to do the mental exercise of exploring the right option.

As there are large number of vacancies available in banks, your chances of success would also be obviously higher, just that you have to work hard to prepare well. If you're eligible and are interested in a banking career, turn your gear on for the forthcoming examinations.

(Disclaimer: Suggestions and recommendations in this article are based on past selection processes. Candidates are advised to refer to instructions and guidelines of the latest selection process in which they would be appearing.)

DO NOT COMPARE, RATHER COMPETE WITH YOURSELF

Comparing oneself with others is a human psychology. But while comparing with others what we forget is one of the basic genetic facts of Homo sapiens that no two persons out of nearly 8 billion of world population can have exactly the same chromosomes. All people differ in genes, the basic unit of heredity. Each individual on this earth is most unique in his or her capacity, calibre and nature. Each has been gifted with discreet specialization of human traits and talents which none on the earth can excel and master over. Then how can we dare compare the performance of the two examinees on the common syllabi of the examination? Doing so is not only quite irrational and immensely unfair but also fraught with dangers.

Recognise your talent, know yourself thoroughly and respect the innate differences and inherent uniqueness which only you have been gifted with by the God on this earth.

In fact, the present examination system which tests the memory retention capacity of a student is nothing more than a modus operandi of memory recall. Each student has his own capacity of cramming the data, facts and figures. Each student has his or her own level of intelligence and different sorts of bent of mind in this world. Amid so many differences in the various parameters of excellence such as intelligence quotients and inclinations of students, is it not simply unfair to expect achievement of the same trajectory of percent of marks and grade from all who write the papers? You must realize and respect the inherent natural differences of each individual and stop making panic upon finding others better than yourself in some areas which you feel incapable in.

EDUCATION HAS DEEPER MEANING IN HUMAN LIFE

Human life is the by-product of circumstances and the forces beyond our control - there is no denying to that fact. What it does mean that sometimes we do not get the results in the proportion of the labour done and struggle suffered. This paradox of life has been interpreted differently by different people - some say it is the divine game of fate, some say it as the natural cycle of sorrow and happiness and still for many of us it is quite the greatest mystical, whimsical. But it does never mean that one should quit and surrender oneself to the unseen and uncontrollable forces of the providence.

The great scientist Albert Einstein once had said that the real education is not the matter of what is written on the pages of a book but what ultimately remains rest in our memory once we come out of the classrooms. This is the very memory which can be called as the corner stone of what we become later on in future. This is the very memory which we need to take care of and be concerned with.

Knowledge is important but more than that what is vital is adopting the pragmatic approach to solve the various challenges of life and mastering the life-saving skills.

Education in our country is traditionally supposed to be the medium of a bright career as well as means of lucrative job opportunities, but sometimes these assumptions do not stand true. Below are given some of the examples:

They were all alone yet made epoch-making changes and historical contributions to the betterment of mankind. They were the self-made people, self-motivated people and, most importantly, they were exceptionally self-confident people who earned avalanche of fame and fortune which they had not ever thought of even in their wildest dreams.

ALWAYS REMEMBER RACE DOESN’T COUNT ... ONLY FINALE COUNTS

There is a very motivating anecdote. In a steeple chase race, an athlete kept on running faster and faster than his competitors and kept himself well ahead of the rest of the sprinters. But in the final round he was unfortunately nowhere in the camera. The cameramen captured the so-called early racer surprisingly gasping somewhere behind many of the competitors. So what makes most important in a competition is not only doing best in the preliminary stages but sustaining the lead until the destination is reached until the result is yours and finale announces your name as the winner.

Gautama Buddha once had said he was better from the corner yourself than to win a thousand battles. Conquering oneself means overcoming one's weaknesses and consistently strengthening oneself. It also means getting enlightened and experienced. It also means persistently trying to enrich oneself with the life’s experiences and ups and downs befalling the human beings.

It is often said that the world is your oyster. Literally, it means you can achieve anything which you die for and which you dream in your life. It is also said that destiny of all the people in this earth is shaped by what they think of about themselves. So, it is also necessary to guard against your negative thoughts, regressive, pessimistic and frustrating ideas which are born once you fail. If you halt your progress and stop moving ahead on your path with the very first failure of your life, it means you are regulating your own splendidly bright future with your own hands.

The epics of all religions across the nations say that when things seem to have not been going smoothly or not moving on expected lines we need to better leave them to the Almighty God. Life has been a puzzle and do not try to unravel it as per your interpretation and convenience. Accept the challenges of life bravely as well as patiently and keep trying to get what you have set your eyes upon. Do not give in to the early setbacks. Let not any hardships and obstacles impede your march onto the path of fulfilling your dreams. Take the challenges and predicaments of life as the springboard for turning the somersaults into the oceans of what we may call the gems of life, dreams of life, and the preferred destination of life.

Bangladesh has emerged as the fastest growing economy among the 45 countries of the Asia-Pacific region according to Asian Development Bank (ADB). In the financial year 2018-19 Bangladesh attained growth rate of 7.9 % which is its fastest rate since 1974. The bank predicted that the growth will be 8% in the next financial year. The ADB country director handed over the report to the Prime Minister of Bangladesh Sheikh Hasina.
