YOGA : INDIA'S BEST GIFT TO THE WORLD

S.B. Singh

Every year on June 21, International yoga day is celebrated across the globe. On this auspicious day, it is the duty of the world to pay homage to one of its greatest gifts, Yoga, which is a legacy for all mankind. The theme of the International Yoga Day 2019 is “Yoga for Harmony & Peace”, which is most timely as the planet and the humanity itself are facing a very real and serious threat which is upon us now in the form of climate change.

Yoga has emerged as a holistic and alternative medical care across the globe. The growing number of yoga enthusiasts around the world is a testimony to this trend. Yoga as a natural way to keep oneself fit and healthy, is a gift of the Indian civilisation to the world. It also helps in improving mental health. Asanas (physical exercises) and Pranayam (breathing exercise) are essential components of Yoga. Yogic practice is helpful in the management of severe diseases, including cancer, bronchial asthma, colitis, peptic ulcer. It also helps control physiological variables such as blood pressure, lipids, respiration, heart rate, and metabolic rate to improve overall exercise capacity. Yoga has emerged as a viable therapy to prevent and cure severe ailments. A recent survey has claimed that over 10% of American population practice yoga and there are around 6,000 yoga studios in the US. About 300 million people practice yoga worldwide. About 14.3 million people in India practised yoga in 2013, up from 6.3 million in 2001. The yoga market is now $11.5 billion industry by 2020. Yoga industry in India is a $85,000 crore. Yoga as a natural way to keep oneself fit and healthy, is a gift of the Indian civilisation to the world. It also helps in improving mental health. Asanas (physical exercises) and Pranayam (breathing exercise) are essential components of Yoga.

Courses in Yoga
There are numerous courses available for students who want to make their career in this field.

Certificate Course in Yoga: It is a short term course ranging from a month long course to a 1-year course. The eligibility for this course is 10+2 from any recognised school or its equivalent exam. There is usually no age limit for this course.

Bachelor Courses: Bachelor degree is offered in various streams like Yogic Sciences and Yoga Philosophy. Duration of these courses is three years and eligibility is 10+2 from any stream securing minimum 45% marks.

Shweta Saras
Yoga is the Sanskrit word which means Union. It is a 5000-year-old Indian philosophy that combines exercise, breathing, diet, relaxation and meditation. It is a combination of physical and mental disciplines which make the body stronger and healthier and the mind calmer and more controlled, helping towards self-realization. There are many meanings of Yoga. Some refer to physical postures, some to breathing and some to a mental technique. Yoga today is considered far superior to all exercises, because in Yoga the emphasis is not just on exercises but on mind control and a balanced diet as well.

Yoga has traditionally been the art of living a healthy life. It has been a major healer in ancient India. Be it a physical ailment or mental- the cure for all has been found in Yoga. What began as a philosophical way of life in the East, caught on like wildfire in the West, and has also seen a rejuvenation in India, the land where Yoga was born.

HOw DOES YOGA HELP?

The aspirant feels rejuvenated and energized. Thus, Yoga bestows upon every aspirant the powers to control body and mind. The art of practicing Yoga helps in controlling an individual’s mind, body and soul. It brings together physical and mental disciplines to achieve a peaceful body and mind; it helps manage stress and anxiety and keeps you relaxing. It Refines Balance and Coordination, it also helps in increasing flexibility, muscle strength and body tone. It improves respiration, energy and vitality. Practicing Yoga might seem like just stretching, but it can do much more for your body from the way you feel, look and move.

YOGA FOR CHILDREN

Our lives live in a hurry-up world of busy parents, school pressures, incessant lessons, video games, malls, and competitive sports. We usually don’t think of these influences as stressful for our kids, but often they are. The bustling pace of our children’s lives can have a profound effect on their innate joy - and usually not for the better. Yoga can help counter these pressures. When children learn techniques for self-heath, relaxation, and inner fulfillment, they can navigate life’s challenges with a little more ease. Yoga at an early age encourages self-esteem and body awareness with a physical activity that’s non-competitive.

It develops Focus and Concentration: The act of practicing poses encourages children to clear their mind and focus on the effort. As a result of this single focus to achieve a particular pose or stay balanced, Yoga helps children to focus and concentrate in school and get better grades.

It Boosts Self-Esteem and Confidence: Yoga helps to instill confidence and to bring learning to children on an experiential level. Yoga teaches them to persevere, be patient, and work towards their goals. Yoga also provides tools for practicing compassion, mindfulness, generosity, focus, strength, and flexibility.

YOGAEPRENEUR AS CAREER

Yoga is no longer confined to the Ashram’s of Maharishi’s nor is it a popularity limited to hippies and fitness enthusiasts. Today, Yoga is an intrinsic part of lifestyle for people across the Country, and the growing number of Yoga studios and personal Yoga coaching classes are a testimony to this trend.

And, with the International Yoga Day giving further impetus to the popularity of Yoga, Yoga is being touted as the new currency for fitness. This has also translated into greater enthusiasm to take up Yoga as career.

Yoga is a great career choice as it is an ancient art and a natural way of remaining fit and healthy. And, being a certified yoga instructor comes with the ability to take your career wherever you travel. The scope of Yoga as career is a wide canvas - from opportunities to operate health care to fitness centre’s to your own studios to even becoming personal Yoga instructors of celebrated.

As a career can be taken up as either part-time or full-time, has many benefits, with increasing government focus and growing awareness about Yoga, the demand for Yoga instructors is expected to grow by about 30-35 percent in a couple of years, according to a study. Even our Prime Minister, Mr. Narendra Modi has recognized Yoga as the best form of fitness regime.

To become a professional in Yoga, one needs to simply have the interest to start with. To make it a profession, there are no requirements as such, but many Universities require a basic high school degree in any stream.

Professional qualification in the field of Yoga is imparted at both under graduate and post graduate levels. For seeking full- time professional qualification, one must pass 10+2 in any stream from a recognized Board. For post-graduation program, minimum qualification is a Bachelor’s degree in any stream from a recognized University, although University graduates who have done post graduation are given preference.

Courses are available in degree/diploma and certificate levels. At times, specific qualification is not required. Instead, experience is counted in this field. There is not any age limit for admission in Yoga courses.

The main subjects of Yoga Theory include- Anatomy, physiology, nutrition, geriatric care, from lifestyle to modern medicine and the traditional medicine. The course combines the knowledge of traditional medicine and the modern medicine.

Several universities are in this field. There are many courses available in this field by which students can make their career in the field of Yoga. Among the most sought courses are:

Bachelors in Arts (Yoga), Masters in Arts (Yoga), PG Diploma in Yoga Therapy and Certificate Courses in Yoga are also available.

One can also opt for Bachelors in Yoga and Naturopathy. It is a 5.5 years long degree, and it combines the knowledge of modern medicine and the traditional medicine. The course will cover all aspects of human health, such as, prenatal to geriatric care, from lifestyle to diet, from the physical to the mental. During the years you will Yoga offers an opportunity to experience and celebrate the fact that we all belong to one race - the race of humanity.

Scientific evidence of benefits of yoga: Real time research on yoga has confirmed its benefits on health. By reducing perceived stress and anxiety, yoga modulates stress response systems. This decreases physical arousal e.g. reducing the heart rate, lowering blood pressure and easing respiration. There is also scientific evidence that yoga practices help increase heart rate variability, an indicator of the body's ability to respond to stress more flexibly. For many individuals dealing with depression, anxiety or stress, yoga may be a very appealing way to better manage symptoms. Indeed, the scientific study of yoga demonstrates that mental and physical health are not just closely allied but are essentially entwined. The evidence is growing that yoga practices is a relatively low risk high yield approach to improving overall health.

A leading American journal, Scientific American has credited ancient Indians for the understanding of yogic sciences. The journal noted the contribution of pranayama thus, "Pranayama (breath retention) was the first discipline to build a theory around respiratory control, holding that controlled breathing was a way to increase longevity." Yoga as India's soft power: In the 1990s, Joseph Nye, an American scholar came up with the concept of soft power. According to him, power is the ability to alter the behaviour of others to get what you want, and there are basically three ways to do that:
1. Coercive (sticks)
2. Payments (carrots)
3. Attractive (soft power)

According to Nye, the soft power of a country rests primarily on three resources:

a. its culture
b. its political values
c. its foreign policy

Thus, soft power is the ability to get what you want through attraction rather than coercion or payments. In other words, soft power is the ability to affect the behaviour of others through persuasion. India practices value based foreign policy that lends it credence and respect. To boost itself as a soft power, India has leveraged its advantages and uniqueness in cuisine, art, culture, films, songs etc. With the declaration of yoga by UN as an international day, our soft power has received a further boost and today the world is not only getting benefited by yoga but is also showing its gratitude towards India for offering a natural alternative to good health and well being. More and more people around the world, irrespective of their race, religion or creed are turning to yoga to find inner peace and harmony in life. In a world torn apart by violence, terrorism and climate change, yoga provides the healing touch. The defining features of the modern civilization are: a rapidified, accelerated life style based on mindless extraction and consumption of the limited resources of the earth. Nationalism is driving hatred towards others. Pursuit of narrow self interests on the part of nations is driving humanity towards disaster. Global terrorism is expanding its tentacles. Yoga offers a solution to these global challenges confronting humanity today. As Vivekananda rightly said long ago: India is destined to conquer the world spiritually. Yoga, being a part of our spiritual tradition, is poised to conquer the world and give India a lead role in contributing towards a better world for the entire humanity. Seen thus, yoga indeed is India's best export to the world.

The increased focus on Yoga by the Prime Minister Mr Narendra Modi and his government has improved job opportunities in Yoga training. The initiative like 'International Yoga Day' has brought the enhanced focus on Yoga at a global level. The demand for yoga teachers has grown exponentially, and a recent study by ASSOCHAM reveals that the demand for trainers is set to grow by 30-35 per cent in the couple of years. Though India has emerged as one of the biggest Yoga teachers' exporters in the world; however, the country itself is facing a shortage of about 3 lakh yoga instructors with the eligibility of graduate from any stream with a certificate in Yoga. Thje demand for trainers is set to grow by 30-35 per cent in the couple of years.

Stress has become a common problem in modern life, a chronic condition in everyday life. About 89% of the population in India are suffering from stress. In addition, one in eight people have severe stress, which is associated with stress, with millennials suffering more than other groups. Stress is abnormal reaction the body has when changes occur. It is response of the body which occurs in difficult situations. The body responds to these changes physically, mentally, or emotionally. It is usually believed that stress is always due to negative changes; but, even positive life changes such as a promotion, or success in an examination produce stress. The term ‘stress’, as it is currently used was coined by Hans Selye in 1936, who defined it as “the non-specific response of the body to any stimulus, be it physical, mental or emotionally. It is usually believed that stress is always due to negative changes; but, even positive life changes such as a promotion, or success in an examination produce stress. The term ‘stress’, as it is currently used was coined by Hans Selye in 1936, who defined it as “the non-specific response of the body to any stimulus, be it physical, mental or emotional.”

Stress is the body’s reaction to any situation that requires the use of its resources. When we are faced with a difficult situation, our bodies go into “fight or flight” mode, releasing hormones like adrenaline and cortisol that prepare us for action. If the stress is chronic or prolonged, it can lead to physical, emotional, and mental health problems.

Yoga for Stress Management

Yoga is a holistic practice that helps to manage stress by focusing on the mind-body connection. It involves physical exercise, breathing techniques, and meditation. These practices help to reduce stress by calming the nervous system, increasing relaxation, and promoting a sense of well-being.

Yoga Postures (Asanas)

1. Sukhasana (Comfortable Seat)
   - Description: Sit with your legs crossed and your hands resting on your knees, with your spine straight. This posture is said to help calm the mind and reduce anxiety.

2. Bhujangasana ( Cobra Pose)
   - Description: Lie on your stomach with your arms extended and your legs straight. Lift your upper body and extend your arms forward, keeping your head and neck in a neutral position. This posture is said to help open the chest and stretch the spine.

3. Marichyasana (Friend of Marici)
   - Description: Sit on the floor with your legs extended in front of you. Bend your right knee and bring your right foot to your left thigh. Twist your torso to the right and reach your right hand towards your right foot. This posture is said to help stretch the sides of the body and improve flexibility.

4. Vrikshasana (Tree Pose)
   - Description: Stand on one leg with your other foot resting on your thigh. Reach your arms up and try to balance for a few seconds. This posture is said to help improve balance and focus.

5. Balasana (Child’s Pose)
   - Description: Kneel on the floor with your big toes together. Sit back on your heels and stretch your arms forward. This posture is said to help release tension in the back and shoulders.

Yoga Breathing Techniques (Pranayama)

Pranayama is a group of breathing techniques that help to regulate the pranic energy in the body. One popular technique is Kapalabhati (Skull Shining), which involves rapid exhalation against an imperceptible inhalation. This technique is said to help flush out toxins from the body and calm the mind.

Yoga Meditation (Dhyana)

Meditation is a key component of yoga practice. It involves quieting the mind and focusing on a single point of attention. There are many forms of meditation, including Shamatha (Calm Abiding) and Vipashyana (Insight). These practices are said to help reduce stress and improve mental clarity.

Yoga Ethics (Yamas and Niyamas)

Yoga ethics are the moral principles that guide our conduct in our personal and social lives. They are divided into two categories: the Yamas and the Niyamas.

- Yama
  - Ahimsa (Non-Harming): Do not cause harm to any living being.
  - Satya (Truth): Tell the truth and avoid lying.
  - Asteya (Non-Stolen): Do not steal or take what does not belong to you.
  - Kaecy (Purity): Cultivate purity of body, speech, and mind.
  - Mitapratyayasthiti (Non-Attachment): Do not become attached to the fruits of one's actions.

- Niyama
  - Svadhyaya (Self-Study): Study the self and the nature of reality.
  - Tapas (Self-Restraint): Cultivate self-discipline and self-control.
  - Satya (Truth): Tell the truth and avoid lying.
  - Aparigraha (Non-Hording): Let go of material attachments and possessions.

These ethical principles help us to live in accordance with the principles of yoga and to maintain a healthy lifestyle.

Yoga Life Philosophy (Adhyatma and Achara)

Yoga philosophy emphasizes the importance of personal development and self-improvement. It teaches us to focus on our inner world, to cultivate inner strength and resilience, and to cultivate a sense of purpose and meaning in our lives.

- Adhyatma
  - Achara (Conduct): The way we conduct ourselves in our daily lives.

Yoga encourages us to live in accordance with our values and to cultivate a sense of purpose and meaning in our lives. It teaches us to let go of material attachments and possessions, to cultivate self-discipline and self-control, and to cultivate inner strength and resilience.

Bhujangasana or Cobra Pose is a recharging backbending asana. It is commonly performed in a cycle of asanas in Surya Namaskar. The name comes from the words Bhujangha (Snake) and Asana (Posture). This asana is very helpful in stress management. In Bhujangasana the organs of endocrine system especially the adrenal glands and pancreas are activated which help in strengthening the system.

Ashtottanasana

The name is made of three words: Hasta (Arms), Uttana (Stretch Up) and Asana (Posture). In this posture, the arms are stretched upwards, hence, it is called Ashtottanasana. It relaxes whole body and relieves pain in neck, shoulders and arms.

Makarasana

The name comes from Makara meaning crocodile and Asana meaning posture. This asana is described in the 17th-century Ghera?7a Sa?hita. Crocodile Pose is a relaxing yoga asana. It is perfect for back and shoulder problems. The pose resembles a crocodile taking rest in water, keeping its face and neck above the water level. It offers deep relaxation for shoulders and spine. It relaxes body completely and keeps the practitioner rejuvenated. Makarasana treats hypertension, heart diseases, and mental disorder.

Matsyasana

The name comes from Matsya meaning fish and Asana meaning posture. According to Hindu mythology Matsya was an incarnation of Lord Vishnu who is believed to be the preserver of the Universe. This asana aims at being focused and resilient when one feels out of balance. It is especially helpful in...

Anxiety. The practitioner feels energized and full of life after doing it.

- Padahastasana
  The name consists of three words, pada (feet), hasta (arms) and asana (posture). In this asana, the hands are brought near the feet, hence it is called Padahastasana. It is one of the 12 basic asanas of Hatha yoga. It is also the third pose of surya namaskar. It is believed to reduce tamas, which means heaviness or inertia in the body. It helps the practitioner to feel lighter and more energised. It is also said to slow the heartbeat, giving relief from both mental and physical exhaustion.

- Sarvangasana
  The name consists of Sarv meaning all, anga meaning part of a body, and asana (posture). As the name suggests, the asana influences the functioning of all parts of your body. Sarvangasana is an asana in which the whole body is balanced on the shoulders. It increases the supply of blood to the brain and strengthens the central nervous system enabling the person to get the problems induced by stress. This asana is highly beneficial in maintaining the mental and physical health and is also referred as 'Queen of asanas'.

- Shashankasana
  The name comprises of Shashanka (Hare or rabbit) and Asana (posture). This asana resembles a rabbit in the final position. There are many benefits of this asana including relaxation, relieving of depression and much more. It is one of those which is very easy to perform and can be done by anyone regardless of age.

- Shavasana
  This asana gets its name from the recumbent posture of a dead body. This posture is very effective for de-stressing the body and mind. In this asana, the body and mind remain in a state of rest. This helps in the repair of tissues and cells, and there by rejuvenates the body and mind. It helps to reduce blood pressure, anxiety and insomnia.

- Trikonasana
  The term comes from the word trikona, meaning triangle and asana (posture). It is a standing yoga posture that requires strength, balance and flexibility. In this posture, both arms extend with the legs spread apart and one foot turned at a 90-degree angle. The upper body bends toward the lead foot so that one arm reaches forward, but not necessarily touching, the ground and the other toward the sky.

- Ushtrasana
  The name consists of words, Ushtra meaning camel and Asana (posture). The body resembles a camel in the final position of this asana. Hence, this is called Ushtrasana. This asana should be practised after Sarvangasana. It is known to open up the heart chakra and increase strength and flexibility.

In France, hundreds of veterans gathered to honour the sacrifice of those who died in the D-Day landings by Allied troops. World leaders attended ceremonies honouring Allied forces who fought in the largest combined land, air and naval operation in history. Wreaths were laid, a minute's silence was held and former US soldiers the pride of the nation.

The Reserve bank of India in its bi-monthly monetary policy review has reduced the repo rate by 25 basis points to 5.75 per cent from 6.0 per cent with immediate effect. Consequently, the reverse repo rate stands adjusted to 5.50 per cent, and the marginal standing facility rate and the Bank Rate to 6.0 per cent. The six-member Monetary Policy Committee headed by RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das also unanimously decided to change the stance of monetary policy from neutral to accommodative. Taking into account the weak global demand due to the escalation in trade wars and weakened private consumption in rural areas, Mr. Das informed that the RBI has lowered the GDP growth forecast for 2019-20 to 7 percent from 7.2 percent. With a view to boosting digital transactions, RBI has decided to do away with charges levied on RTGS and NEFT transactions and banks will be required to pass this benefit to their customers. The next meeting of the MPC is scheduled from August 5 to 7.

Sunil Chhiedi became the most capped India player by surpassing Bhaichung Bhutia’s 107 international matches. In his milestone match of the King’s Cup foot- ball tournament in Buriram, Thailand, he scored the lone goal for his side in the 31st minute from a spot kick for his 69th goal.
