Some of the most crucial health issues of Indian urbanites are the following-

1. Obesity
2. Cardio-vascular problems
3. Psycho-neurological disorders
4. Cancer
5. Diabetes
6. Under-nutrition
7. Allergies and respiratory disorders
8. Hormonal imbalances
9. Viral diseases

Obesity has become a big health problem in urban India due to many reasons, mainly wrong and unhealthy food habits, stressful life and less physical activities. India ranks 2nd with 155 million obese citizens and this number is increasing at 33.50% per year. Among individuals aged between 15-49 years, nearly 21% women and 19% men have been found to be overweight or obese. As per various scientific studies the presence of obesogenic chemicals such as DDT (dichloro diphenyl trichloroethane), bisphenol A (plastic material), MSG (mono sodium glutamate) and arsenic trigger obesity as well as late night dinner, prolonged watching on TV, long sitting on laptop or desktop, video games, cell phone chatting, street and fast foods and avoiding routine physical activities etc ultimately lead to obesity. Obesity is considered as one of the most serious health challenges of 21st century since it is identified as a major cause of various chronic diseases and death. As per National Family Health Survey, the people of Punjab, Kerala, Goa and Tamil Nadu are most obese states in the country while people of Tripura and Jharkhand are least obese.

As per a survey conducted by Lancet in 2017, on behalf of the WHO, 34% of Indians do inefficient physical activities as compared to neighboring countries like China, Nepal and Pakistan. India stands at 52nd out of 168 countries.

Cardio Vascular Diseases (CVDs) have now become the leading cause of mortality in India. About 25% of all deaths in the country are attributed by Cardio Vascular Diseases. Hypertension, arteriosclerosis; ischemic heart disease and stroke are the main threats globally. Typically, the CVDs death rate is 235 per 100000 people while it is 272 in India. In Indian cities, 30-40% of CVDs deaths occur in the age group of 34-64 years, which is considered the productive segment of the population.

Diabetes is most common in India with 52 million patients making the country ‘the diabetes capital of the world.’ The prevalence of Diabetes type -2 has increased by 64% across the country in 25 years. WHO estimates that the number of diabetic patients will cross the figure of 80 million by 2030. The country witnesses 3.4 million deaths every year due to diabetes which is known as ‘the silent killer.’ Going by a study conducted by the University of Sydney, people in developing countries have faced multi-generational under-nutrition and are currently undergoing major lifestyle changes, contributing to an epidemic of metabolic diseases, though the underlying mechanisms remain unclear.

According to a study (2016-17) conducted by the Madras Diabetes Research Foundation the prevalence of diabetes is just double in urban areas (11.2%) in comparison to rural areas (5.2%).

The number of type-1 diabetics (no secretion of insulin from the pancreas) is about 0.1 million in the country and these young people are mainly city-based and dependent on insulin shots twice a day.

Cancer or carcinoma (malignancy) is a fast increasing disease among almost every country since the middle of 20th century. According to an estimate, India currently has 2.5% of the world’s cancer patients. More than 71% deaths in the age group of 30-69 are caused due to various types of cancer.

Cancer of oral cavity, lungs, colorectum, pharynx, liver, prostate and pancreas are more common among men, while cancer of breast, cervix, ovary and colorectal is widely found in the Indian women. Although, exact cause of cancer is still not known, however the triggering factors i.e. use of tobacco, alcohol, pesticides, household chemicals, cosmetic items, environmental pollution, exposure to radiation and various types of infections especially of hepatitis and HIV, have been identified and proved. Fruit ripening chemicals like calcium carbide, ethylene and ethephon, processed food and fried foods are also causing gastro-intestinal cancers.

Allergy or hypersensitivity disorder of human body has become a big threat for modern generations and it is mainly due to environmental imbalance and changes in human body. It is estimated that nearly 25% -30% population of the country is highly sensitive to the health problems and most common is allergic rhinitis, sinusitis, asthma, eczema and various food- drug- insect allergies. Being a tropical country, wide -ranged weather changes are very common and at the same time the atmosphere is full of different allergens, dust, aerial pollen, silica, chemical in food, toxic elements and some plants e.g. parthenium (gazzer ghasa) and cape gum (keekar) which cause allergies.

Psycho-neurological disorders among Indians are hardly considered as a health problem due to social taboos and superstitions. As per a nationwide study conducted by the National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (NIMHANS) in 2014-16, about 13.7% population of the country is suffering from mental illness and 10.6% persons require immediate intervention. These disorders include anxiety, stress, phobia, depression, schizophrenia, autism etc. The working couple of urban India do not have substantive time to care for their children so socio- psycho problems of these children is on hike causing overall personality defects. About 8 million people commit suicide every year in the world; of these 17% are Indians mainly between the age group of 15-40 years. Similarly 30 million people are suffering from neurological disorders like epilepsy, Parkinson’s disease, Alzheimer’s disease, febrile convulsions, peripheral neuropathy and migraine etc.

Under nutrition and malnutrition exist in medium, higher and very high income group families of the country. Protein, iron, calcium, folic acid, vitamin B-12, vitamin-D and zinc deficiency are very common in Indian urban as well as rural population. About 33% malnourished children of the world are in India and 43% children (below 5 years age) of the country are under weight. Most of the youth and college going girls of the country do not have substantive time to care for their children.

Other life style diseases and health problems in urban India are dry eyes and back pain due to prolonged working on desktop, laptop and cell phone; facial palsy due to sudden variation in temperature (exit from AC room to road directly), dental caries, hepatitis A, B and C, HIV-AIDS, insomnia, food poisoning (gastro enteritis), infertility and hormonal imbalances. Puberty, pregnancy and menopause are some time period of hormonal imbalance but the increasing number of thyroid (hypo and hyper both) patients in the country is a warning sign. About 42 million people are suffering from thyroid problem. It is believed that auto-immune failure is the main cause of thyroid problem and auto immune system failure also cause stomatitis (aphthous ulcer), diabetes (type-1), rheumatoid arthritis, psoriasis, multiple sclerosis, irritable bowel syndrome ( IBS ), Addison's disease, myasthenia gravis, vasculitis and many more.

Decreasing immunity power or disease resistance is a new emerging problem in the urbanites due to their life style and malnutrition. Since last two decades the country is facing recurrent attacks of dengue, chikungunya, swine flu, bird flu, H1N1, Ebola virus, nipa virus and many other viral fevers. Although the traditional infectious diseases are under control but 11% population of Indian cities are still infected by tuberculosis, hepatitis, amebiasis, typhoid and malaria. It is also strange to see that most of the deaths in urban areas, due to these infections, are of young people in the range of 15-45 years.

Health in Urban Slums

As per Census- 2011 data there were 65.49 million inhabitants living in 13.92 million households in slums. About 5.4% population of the entire country and 17.4% of urban population was residing in slums. Most of the slums are very congested, over populated and unhygienic conditions have Poverty is the root cause of all the problems of any slum. Non-availability of clean drinking water, piles of garbage, open defecation, mosquitoes, flies, pollution, alcoholism, drugs addiction, industrial hazards (e.g. silicosis) and poverty lead to increase in morbidity and mortality including infectious diseases (mainly tuberculosis, hepatitis, typhoid, measles, AIDS, cholera, parasitic infections and malaria), anemia and malnutrition among mother and children. A total 89.6% death in the Indian slums occur due to respiratory diseases as studied by the International Institute of Population Studies in 2015. While about 1.9 million children die every year in these slums due to malnutrition, pneumonia, measles and diarrhea.

Towards Healthy India: Some Remedies

The modernization process of human civilization explains the transformation of a traditional society to a modern society which is mainly secular, industrial, urban, technological sound with scientific temperament, while globalization is considered as an integration of economic, social and political cultures across the globe. The Constitution of India makes a provision to 'develop scientific temper, humanism and the spirit of inquiry and reform' as a fundamental duty under Article 51-A (h).

All the fake advertisements in newspapers or on TV and internet must be banned effectively and proper action must be taken under the 'Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) Act, 1954'. Similarly, the Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006 is to be enforced effectively and any adulteration in food items must be treated with immediate concern.

The National Health Policy, 2017 makes the provision of highest possible level of good health and well-being through a preventive and promotive care orientation in all development policies. National Urban Health Mission (NUHM) was launched as a sub-mission of National Health Mission in 2013, needs further revamping and reforms according to the needs of urban diseases. There are nearly 250 national programmes and schemes operational in whole country and more than 20% of these national schemes are of health sector. Only around 27% people of the country are covered under any health insurance plan. Health insurance is still not a serious concern and practice of Indians. It is hoped that the universal health coverage under ‘Ayushman Bharat’ will change the fate of resourceless people of the country because health and happiness are sibings.

6. Network Engineer (VMGS-III)

   Engineering Graduate in Computer Science / IT / ECE or MCA / M.Sc. (IT) / M.Sc. (Computer Science) from recognized University / Institute.

   Experience in IT sector in handling large corporate network or Banking network post minimum qualification will be preferred.

   - NET / Network Security / Networking Concepts / Cisco Certified Network Associate (CCNA) with knowledge of routing, switching protocol, networking devices, sound analytical and troubleshooting skills preferred.

7. Tester (VMGS-II)

   Engineering Graduate in Computer Science / IT / ECE or MCA / M.Sc. (IT) / M.Sc. (Computer Science) from recognized University / Institute.

   Experience of IT testing post minimum qualification will be preferred.

   - Manual tester / HP Quick test Professional (QTP) / Regression tester preferred.

8. WAS Administrator (VMGS-II)

   Engineering Graduate in Computer Science / IT / ECE or MCA / M.Sc. (IT) / M.Sc. (Computer Science) from recognized University / Institute.

   Preferred:
   - CISA and CISSP certification for WAS, H1S, unix, XML environments.

   Minimum 5 years of post basic qualification experience in IT business / industry out of which minimum 2 years of extensive experience in managing WAS, H1S, Unix, XML environments.

   Specific Skill Required:
   - Familiarity with J2EE, IHS Web Server, WebSphere Application Server, IIS, SSO, Unix Shell, Python and Perl etc.
   - Unix administration skills or AIX
   - Familiarity with IBM MQ servers, Oracle / SQL / DB2 servers and XML, XSL and XML etc.
   - Familiarity with the Web and Application Servers, Workload Infrastructure.
   - Some knowledge of business / organisation, bank standards, infrastructure, architecture and technology in related areas from a design / support / solutions perspective.
   - Is comfortable working in an environment where a high degree of multitasking is the norm.

9. Infrastructure Engineer (VMGS-II)

   Engineering Graduate in Computer Science / IT / ECE or MCA / M.Sc. (IT) / M.Sc. (Computer Science) from recognized University / Institute.

   Minimum 5 years of post basic qualification experience in IT sector in installation / migration / Upgradation of Weblogic, Tomcat server on Solaris / LINUX / UNIX / AIX etc.

   Specific Skill Required:
   - Experience in installation / migration / Upgradation of Weblogic, Tomcat server on Solaris / LINUX / UNIX / AIX etc.

10. UX Designer (VMGS-II)

   Engineering Graduate in Computer Science / IT / ECE or MCA / M.Sc. (IT) / M.Sc. (Computer Science) from recognized University / Institute.

   Minimum 5 years of post basic qualification experience in IT sector in UX design & development / Photoshop / Core Java.

   Specific Skill Required:
   - Experience in UX design & development / Photoshop / Core Java.

11. IT Risk Manager (VMGS-II)

    Engineering Graduate in Computer Science / IT / ECE or MCA / M.Sc. (IT) / M.Sc. (Computer Science) from recognized University / Institute.

    Minimum 5 years of post basic qualification experience in IT sector out of which minimum two years experience in IT Risk Management.

    Specific Skill Required:
    - Expertise in all aspects of Risk Management including identification, analysis, mitigation, reporting, awareness, Involuntary Management and Response, GRC, audit and compliance.

CAREER IN ...
A new science has emerged as a result of this, the Science of Nutrition. This has opened new vistas for employment.

CAREER OVERVIEW
Nutrition and Dietetics is the science of management of nutrition and food for the promotion of health among people by instilling healthy eating habits. Nutritionist as a profession offers a host of rewarding ways to improve people’s lives through food.

WHO IS A NUTRITIONIST?
A nutritionist advises people on what to eat in order to lead a healthy lifestyle or achieve a specific health-related goal. They work in many settings, including hospitals, cafeterias, nursing homes, and schools. Some are self-employed with their own practice. They also work with patients suffering from diseases, such as kidney problems, food allergies, cancer, diabetes etc. Some nutritionists provide customized information for specific individuals. For example, a dietician or nutritionist might teach a patient with high blood pressure how to use less salt when preparing meals. Others work with groups of people who have similar needs. They might, for example, plan a diet with reduced processed foods and sugar to help overweight people lose weight. Some nutritionists may also conduct interviews for posts at Food & Nutrition Board.

WHAT WORK DOES NUTRITIONIST DO?
- Explain nutrition and what it can do for the client
- Assess clients’ health needs and diet
- Develop meal plans, taking both cost and clients’ preferences into account
- To advise governments and health bodies on issues related with nutrition.
- Work with different organizations such as schools, hospitals, restaurants, etc., to maintain nutrition needs of the people.
- Spread awareness on the advantages of a healthy and balanced diet.
- Indulge in research on different food ingredients and their benefits.
- Maintain the records of the patients through periodic updates.

Although all nutritionists do similar tasks, there are several specialties within the occupations.

What’s the Difference between Nutritionists and Dieticians?
Many people use the terms, Dietician, and Nutritionist, interchangeably, but their roles and educational qualifications are different. Nutritionists are professionals who study the effects of food and the types and quantity of food intake required specifically to increase or decrease their body weight. They work in the areas of food science, community development, research projects and Fast Moving Consumer Goods Companies (FMCG).
Their work relates to research aspect. It could be in the field, desk or laboratory. Public health nutritionists work in the developmental sector. “They go beyond diagnosis - move into the science of biochemistry, food science.”
On the other hand, Dieticians are experts who guide patients (medical patients in hospitals, nursing homes, etc.) regarding the right kinds of nutritional intake. For example, a person recovering from a car accident would have different requirements from someone suffering from cancer. They are specialized in nutrition for different categories of people, especially clinical patients. Dieticians can work as Nutritionists, but Nutritionists cannot work as Dieticians.
Generally, after the course completion, students are entitled to undergo an internship training of three months, which is a mandatory period, or six months at a hospital which is recognized by Indian Dietetic Association and has at least one registered dietician in the dietetics department. It should be a super specialty or multi-specialty hospital.

ELIGIBILITY
You can take any stream in your class 12th, however, the science stream (Physics, Chemistry, and Biology) is highly recommended, as it opens up a wider range of courses and career opportunities. Also, taking Biology as a subject will help you build a base through a focus on human physiology.
In Graduation one can pursue B.Sc Nutrition and dietetics for 3 years or pursue B.Sc Home Science for 3 years and after graduation pursue M.Sc. Nutrition and dietetics / Home Science for 2 years or one can also do Post-Graduate Diploma in Nutrition and dietetics.
There are numerous programmes available at the graduate, postgraduate level, and course combinations, also. At Delhi University, the entry point is B. Sc Home Science, of which Food & Nutrition is one subject. There are two types of programmes: B. Sc Home Science and (Honors), In B. Sc Home Science (Hons), a student can specialize in Food & Nutrition in the second and third year, whereas in the B. Sc. programme, there is no specialization. The Honours programme admits only students from science backgrounds as its subjects include Biochemistry, Botany, Physics, Zoology and Chemistry.

SKILLS REQUIRED
If you have an inborn interest in cooking and exploring various cuisines from different countries, nutrition and dietetics is one subject which will help you explore how to design controlled diets. Based on the Body Mass Index, you can design your own food charts that would summarize the quantity of fats, carbohydrates, and proteins which must be consumed everyday.

The Skills Required Are:
- Good communication skills to interact with people, individually and in groups
- Writing skills to produce reports, documentation, brochures
- Good research skills
- Patience and a genuine concern for fellow beings
- Planning, administrative skills and organizational ability

Career Opportunities in Nutrition and Dietetics
The recent mushrooming of health clinics and fitness centers and booming commercial food services will ensure that nutrition and dietetics continue to have ample job opportunities in the future.

The sectors where one can work are: FMCGs and Pharmaceutical companies: Like Nestle, Cadbury’s, Unilever, GSK, Eli Lilly, Novartis require nutritionists in two areas - R&D and medical marketing. www.Jobriya.com

Government bodies: Many are hiring nutritionists for social welfare and developmental work. They also work in public health departments. Depending on the number of vacancies available, UPSC conducts interviews for posts at Food & Nutrition Board (FNB).

Apart from these, opportunities are available in:
- Sports and Health Clubs
- Teaching
- Consultant Dieticians
- Mass Media
- Nutrition educators
- Private nutrition consultants
- Government sector jobs
- Clinical dieticians

A course in Nutrition and Dietetics is as good as a Hotel Management course if knowledge is continuously upgraded about foods, measurement scales, and medical implications. If you are employed in a Hospital, you can learn a lot about nursing and pharmacy which could be further used to complement your career as a dietician.

Various roles as a nutritionist:
- CLINICAL NUTRITIONIST:
  - Clinical nutritionists work in medical settings, such as Hospitals, Doctor’s offices and clinics. These nutritionists are in charge of providing medical nutrition therapy, a therapeutic method used to treat diseases by specifically tailoring the diet.
  - FOOD SERVICE NUTRITIONIST:
    - Food service nutritionists work in school cafeterias, restaurants and other large-scale food establishments. Routine audits and inspections are done to ensure kitchen staff and managers are in compliance with regulatory standards. Food service nutritionists also give advice for handling special dietary concerns and food allergies.
  - SPORTS NUTRITIONIST:
    - A sports nutritionist works with athletes and coaches to ensure top athletic performance. Individual plans are developed based on each athlete’s nutrient needs. A sports nutritionist also collaborates with athletic trainers to prevent injuries and help recovering athletes.

Top Companies
The top companies in the hospitality industry hiring nutrition professionals are as mentioned below:
- Hyatt Corporation
- Accor Hospitality
- Taj Group of Hotels
- Le Meridien

Besides these, there are several companies in other industries such as Apollo group of hospitals, AIIMS and other private nursing homes that hire nutritionists and dieticians. Top-ended sports clubs and fitness centers also employ these professionals.

TOP COLLEGES FOR NUTRITION AND DIETETICS
- Lady Irwin College, University of Delhi, New Delhi
- Institute of Home Economics, University of Delhi, New Delhi
- Women’s Christian College, University of Madras, Chennai
- SNDT Women’s University, Mumbai
- National Institute of Nutrition, Hyderabad
- JD Birla Institute, Kolkata
- All India Institute of Hygiene and Public Health, Kolkata
- College of Home Science, Nirmala Niketan, University of Mumbai
- University of Mysore, Mysore

With the break of disease and rising level of unhealthy eating habits, the need of nutritionist is on the rise. To give your nutrition career new wings, an internship is the most important aspect. It will give you the practical exposure on top of your theoretical knowledge and is surely going to open up many doors for a lucrative career opportunity.

Secretary, Ministry of Information & Broadcasting, Shri Amit Khare, inaugurated the stall of Publications Division at the recently held Delhi Book Fair at Pragati Maidan, New Delhi. Five books brought out by Publications Division were also released by Shri Khare. Director, National Gandhi Museum Shri A. Annamalai, was also present on the occasion.

Shri Amit Khare lauded the efforts of Publications Division in bringing the lives of great personalities closer to people through books published not only in Hindi and English but in several India languages. He also talked about the thriving culture of books in the era of internet, stating that while the internet is a repository of information, it is books which impart knowledge.

Being one of the prominent publishers of books on Gandhian thought, Publications Division is displaying an array of titles on Mahatma Gandhi in both print and e-versions. Books on speeches of President, Vice President and Prime Minister and also on other diverse subjects including history and heritage, children’s literature, arts and culture, national freedom movement, biographies of national leaders, flora and fauna, science and economy, Rashtrapati Bhawan series among others were also displayed.

The 25th Delhi Book Fair was held at Pragati Maidan, New Delhi from 11th September to 15th September, 2019, and was organised by the Federation of Indian Publishers and ITPO. It provided an important forum where publishers, authors, booksellers, and book lovers get to interact.

The theme of the Book Fair was dedicated to the Commemoration of 150th Birth Anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi.

NATIONAL

The Indian Army has begun recruitment drive for the first batch of women soldiers, who will be inducted in non-combat roles. Recruitment rallies are being conducted in different cantonments for selection of the first batch of 100 women soldiers who will be taken into the Corps of Military Police. At present, women in the Army work only in areas like engineering, medical, legal, signals and educational wings.

Ministry of Human Resource and Development has prepared a module to introduce the study of Artificial Intelligence at the school level by joining hands with the technology leaders like Intel. Addressing the Central Board of Secondary Education’s Teachers Awards 2018-19, Union Human Resource and Development Minister Ramesh Pokhriyal Nishank said, it is a big leap in our education system that artificial intelligence which was otherwise taught at the college level, is now being introduced from class 8th.

Women and Child Development Ministry has extended the last date of receipt of applications for the Pradhan Mantri Rashtriya Bal Puraskar - 2020, till 30th of September. Earlier, the last date was 31st of August. Deserving candidates can submit their nominations only through online mode on the web portal <www.nca-wdc.nic.in>. Pradhan Mantri Rashtriya Bal Puraskar was instituted to felicitate meritorious children, individuals and institutions of the country. It is given under two categories - Bal Shakti Puraskar and Bal Kalyan Puraskar.

Indian Railways have announced certain freight incentives to give a boost to the economy. The busy season surcharge of 15 per cent on freight, which is levied between 1st of October to 30th June, has been deferred. The five per cent supplementary charges applicable on loading on mini and two-point rakes have also been waived off.

In the biggest ever joint operation by Directorate General of GST Intelligence, DGGI and Directorate General of Revenue Intelligence, DRI pan-India searches were carried out at 336 different locations across the country against exporters who were claiming a refund of IGST fraudulently. The operation covered entities in 14 states and national capital Delhi and involved about 1200 officers from both the agencies. On the basis of data analytics, an intelligence developed in close coordination by both agencies revealed that some exporters are exporting goods out of India on payment of IGST, being done almost entirely out of the Input Tax Credit (ITC) availed on the basis of ineligible or fake supplies. Such IGST payment was claimed as a refund on export. It was also noticed that there was no or negligible payment of tax through cash by the exporters as well as their suppliers. On the basis of this intelligence, massive searches were conducted on the premises of exporters and their suppliers.

INTERNATIONAL

Seventeen Indian peacekeepers deployed with the UN mission in South Sudan have been awarded medals in recognition of their service to the people in the world’s youngest country. They were awarded the UN service medals during a special ceremony at the UN House in Juba. The Indian police officers have served the UN and the people of South Sudan for almost a year. Their duties included protecting displaced civilians, community policing and building local police skills. India is among the largest troop contributing countries in the world to UN peacekeeping missions. As of March this year, India is the second highest troop contributor to the United Nation Missions, with 2,337 troops deployed in various countries. In addition, India contributes 22 police personnel to the UN Missions.

In the United States, the Supreme Court has given a go-ahead to Trump administration plans that severely limit the ability of migrants to claim asylum. Under the rule, people arriving via a third country must claim asylum there first before arriving at the US border. Legal challenges against it continue but the ruling means for now it can be enforced nationwide. The plan will affect tens of thousands of Central American immigrants who travel north, often on foot, through Mexico. The Trump administration unveiled the new asylum policy in July but it was almost immediate-ly blocked from taking effect by a lower court ruling by a judge in San Francisco. Curbing migration levels has been a key goal of Donald Trump’s presidency and forms a major part of his bid for re-election in 2020.
