E-CIGARETTE BAN
PROMOTING PUBLIC HEALTH

EN Team

E-cigarettes, the consumption of which is popularly known as vaping, is now illegal in India with the government passing an ordinance on 18th September 2019 banning the sale, manufacturing, distribution, import, export, storage, transport and advertisement of the product.

Use of e-cigarettes is punishable with an imprisonment of up to one year or fine up to Rs. 1 lakh or both for the first offence; and imprisonment of up to three years and fine up to Rs. 5 lakh for a subsequent offence. Even storage is punishable with an imprisonment up to six months or fine up to Rs. 50,000, or both.

Globally, many countries are evaluating the health risks associated with using e-cigarettes, and India is one of a handful of countries to enforce a complete ban. The reason is the health risks posed by e-cigarettes and, in particular, the perception among adolescents and the youth that vaping is “cool”, making e-cigarettes a potential gateway to smoking regular cigarettes.

With cigarettes being associated with fatal lung diseases and death of millions of people around the globe, manufacturers introduced Electronic Nicotine Delivery Systems (ENDS) that were deceptively promoted as a less harmful alternative. They were introduced and popularised by forwarding the argument that they are effective in helping people quit smoking tobacco. However, there are no concrete large-scale studies to show their effectiveness in helping people quit smoking. Health activists argue that these products actually undermine the efforts to de-normalise tobacco use.

There is no conclusive evidence of "harm reduction" as well as any cessation benefits of these products. On the contrary, newer evidence of harm is emerging, as demonstrated by the outbreak of severe lung disease due to vaping.

The liquid in the e-cigarette usually contains nicotine, which is toxic, highly addictive and known to be a lethal chemical. To make it more appealing to the youth, more than 7,000 varieties of flavours are mixed in the liquid. Apart from nicotine, e-cigarette cartridges can also be used as delivery devices for addictive and harmful substances such as cannabis and opiates.

As per WHO Report on the Global Tobacco Epidemic 2017, the Governments of thirty countries have already banned the product anticipating the possibilities of children, adolescents and youth (and generally non-smokers) initiating nicotine use through ENDS at a young age.

adolescents and youth are likely to switch to cigarette smoking. The report says that the scientific evidence regarding the effectiveness of ENDS as a smoking cessation aid is scant and of low certainty, making it difficult to draw credible inferences.

Countries where ENDS are banned include Mauritius, Australia, Singapore, Korea [Democratic People's Republic], Sri Lanka, Thailand, Brazil, Mexico, Uruguay, Bahrain, Iran, Saudi Arabia, and the United Arab Emirates.

Electronic Nicotine Delivery Systems (ENDS) are devices that heat a solution to create an aerosol, which frequently also contains flavours, usually dissolved into propylene Glycol/or Glycerin. Electronic cigarettes, the most common prototype, are devices that do not burn or use tobacco leaves but instead vapourise a solution, which the user then inhales. The main constituents of the solution, in addition to nicotine are propylene glycol, with or without glycerol and flavouring agents. ENDS solutions and emissions contain other chemicals, some of them considered to be toxicants. Although ENDS is generally considered a single product class, these products constitute a diverse group with potentially significant differences in the production of toxicants and mechanisms for delivery of nicotine.

In addition to creating dependence, nicotine can have adverse effects on the development of the foetus during pregnancy. It may contribute to the development of the foetus during pregnancy. It may contribute to

The question of whether nicotine itself, separate from tobacco smoke, causes cancer is controversial because of conflicting study results over time that used off-critiqued methods. Almost all researchers agree, however, that chemicals added during the curing of tobacco - nitrate and nitrite - can cause a particle called a nitrosation (ion), according to the study. This is known to convert nicotine into nitrosamines such as NNN (N-nitrosornicotine) and NNK (nicotine-derived nitrosamine ketone), proven carcinogens in mice and humans.

Advt. No. – JR/05/2019

Requirement of Experienced Non-Executive Personnel

J. Selection Methodology:
www.Jobriya.com

1. The selection methodology will comprise Written Test and a Skill/Proficiency/Physical Test (SPFT) which will be qualifying in nature.
2. A candidate will have to secure a minimum of 40% marks in the written test to qualify for further consideration.
3. The minimum qualifying marks in the written test will be relaxed by 5% for candidates belonging to SC/ST categories considered against reserved positions.
4. Obtaining minimum qualifying marks in the written test does not confer any right or claim by the candidate for being shortlisted for further consideration or the final selection, as the same is related to number of positions, ratio applied and relative performance in respective categories.
5. Shortlisted candidates (in the ratio of 1:2 for candidates for one post, with due cognizance to number of reserved posts) subject to securing minimum qualifying marks in the written test will be required to undergo a Skill/Proficiency/Physical Test (SPFT). The SPFT shall be conducted by a duly constituted committee.
6. In case of tie of marks in the written test for the last position on the Shortlist for SPFT, all such candidates shall be called for the SPFT, even if the total number exceeds the prescribed ratio. If such a situation arises anywhere before the last position while drawing a list, the last name/fewest names, in proportion to the prescribed ratio, will get eliminated.
7. Category-wise Merit list shall be drawn on the basis of marks obtained in the written test from & out of the said short-list; only for such candidates who qualify in the SPFT.
8. In case of tie of marks for the last position on the Merit List, the candidate with prior date of birth (senior by age) shall find a place in the Merit List. However, the names considered will also be retained in the said Merit List, as the last name.
9. If such a situation arises anywhere before the last position while drawing a list, the last name/fewest names in the list, in proportion to the prescribed ratio, will be eliminated.
10. Ex-Servicemen candidates, if found suitable, will be considered against reserved vacancy irrespective of their position in Merit list (in order of merit within the category) on horizontal reservation policy.
11. The candidature of the candidate will be provisional and subject to subsequent verification of certificates/ testimonials, experience etc. At any stage of the selection process, if it is found that the candidate has furnished false or incorrect information, the candidature/apointment of the candidate will be cancelled.
12. Filling up of vacancies is solely at the discretion of the management based on suitability of candidates, and no claim will arise for appointment, if none of these vacancies are not filled due to unsuitability of available candidates or insufficiency in number of candidates.
13. The decision of the Management will be final and binding on all candidates on all matters relating to eligibility, acceptance or rejection of the application, mode of selection, cancellation of the selection process either in part or full, etc. No correspondence will be entertained in this regard.

K. Pre-Employment Medical and Physical Fitness:

Q62. In a study, scientists compared the microorganisms of poorly nourished and well nourished infants and young children. Gut microbes were isolated from faecal samples of malnourished and healthy children. The microbe was “immature” and less diverse in malnourished children compared to the better nourished group. The microbiome found in healthy children of the same age. According to some studies, the composition of the mother’s milk has shown the presence of a modified sugar (sialylated oligosaccharides). This sugar is utilized by the baby for its own nutrition. However, the bacteria constituting the infant’s microbiome thrive on this sugar which serves as their food. Malnourished mothers have low levels of this sugar in their milk. Consequently, the microbiomes of their infants fail to mature. That in turn, leads to malnourishment.
Q63. Which one of the following is the most logical, rational and crucial inference that can be derived from the above passage?
(a) If malnourishment in children is caused by gut bacteria, it cannot be treated.
(b) The guts of malnourished babies should be inoculated with mature microbiota.
(c) Babies of malnourished mothers should be fed with dairy milk fortified with sialylated oligosaccharides instead of mother’s milk.
(d) Research about beneficial effects of gut bacteria on nutrition has policy implications.

Q64. On the basis of the above passage, the following assumptions have been made:
1. Prolonged probiotic foods are a solution to treat the children suffering, from malnutrition due to immature gut bacterial composition.
2. The babies of malnourished mothers tend to generally be malnourished. Which of the above assumptions is/are valid?
