Ambassador (Retd.)

One of the important areas for India’s international cooperation is her “demographic dividend”. The availability of a huge pool of skilled labour in India till the middle of the 21st century is one factor that will lead to the transformation of India into a global economy. Three international organizations have played a big role in the evolution of India’s labour policies. These are the International Labour Organization (ILO), in which India has been active in setting labour standards, the United Nations (UN), in which India has focused on the role of labour policies within the matrix of Sustainable Development, and the World Trade Organization (WTO), in which India is a leading advocate for liberalization of flows of skilled labour to international markets.

The ILO

A century ago, on 28 June 1919, India signed the Treaty of Versailles in France, which brought the First World War to an end. Articles 1-30 of the Treaty created the world’s first international governmental organization, the League of Nations, which was succeeded by the UN in June 1945. Articles 387-427 of the Treaty established the ILO. As a signatory to the Treaty of Versailles, India automatically became a founder member of both the League of Nations and the ILO. Today, the ILO is a Specialized Agency of the UN, and has 187 member-states.

The primary objective of the ILO is to regulate labour policy at the international level. There are four areas where the ILO impacts on labour policies: (i) promotion and implementation of labour standards and fundamental principles and rights at work; (ii) creating opportunities for men and women to obtain decent work and pay; (iii) increasing the scope of social protection for all; and (iv) strengthening the tripartite nature of participation and social dialogue in the organization. The ILO has a tripartite structure bringing together governments, employers and workers. A Governing Council of 56 representatives (28 governments, 14 employers and 14 workers) meets three times a year (in March, June and November) to take decisions on ILO policy. Since the first reform of the ILO in 1922, India has been permanently represented among the 10 governments of countries of “chief industrial importance”. Decision-making is based on consensus, or by majority voting if there is no consensus. None of the countries of “chief industrial importance”, including the United States, United Kingdom, France, China and Russia, (the five permanent members of the UN Security Council), have a veto in the adoption of decisions by the Governing Council. The other four countries of “chief industrial importance” permanently represented in the Governing Council are Brazil, Germany, Italy and India.

Development has added another Agenda 2030 on Sustainable (SDGs) of the UN’s unanimously adopted to meet international labour policy. The UN ratified more than 40 ILO Conventions so freedom of association. Overall, India has yet ratified the ILO Conventions on forced labour, child labour and non- which are contained in Conventions and through International Labour Standards, to eventually become party to ILO binding, ILO Recommendations are non- which are mutual recognition and includes measures to ensure equal access to justice for all, as well as “to promote non-discriminatory laws and policies for sustainable development”. India launched the UN Global Compact as the nodal point for monitoring and reporting on the UN implementation of Agenda 2030 with its SDGs in India. In its SDG India Report of 2018, UNICEF India selected three areas to examine the implementation of SDG 8, based on four national level indicators chosen for “availability of data at the national level to ensure comparability”. These are per capita growth, expansion of financial services by domestic financial institutions, and doubling of agricultural to eventually become party to ILO Conventions only when India’s domestic legislative framework is in line with the provisions of the ILO Convention.

The ILO has eight “fundamental” Conventions. These cover four areas of fundamental principles and rights at work, viz. freedom of association and the effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining; the elimination of all forms of forced or compulsory labour; the effective abolition of child labour; and the elimination of discrimination in respect of employment and occupation. India has ratified six of these Conventions (on forced labour, child labour and non-discrimination of labour), India, along with the United States and China, has not yet ratified the ILO Conventions on freedom of association. Overall, India has ratified more than 40 ILO Conventions so far.

The UN

While the ILO Conventions and Recommendations help member-states to promote international labour policy objectives, the role of labour in achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of the UN’s unanimously adopted Agenda 2030 on Sustainable Development has added another dimension to international cooperation on labour issues. Under SDG 8 on “Decent Work and Economic Growth” of the SDGs, nine UN member-states (US, UK, China, India, Japan, Brazil, Madhya Pradesh, Odisha, Assam, and Meghalaya, and Darad & Nagar Haveli) need assistance to implement SDG 8 targets.

In 2018, the UNGA negotiated a Global Compact for Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration to address concerns on the flow of people, including labour. The Compact was founded on the protectionist sentiment within more many economies of the world, which impacted on implementing Agenda 2030. The Global Compact was the first ever legally non-binding global framework for a common approach to international migration. In the UN General Assembly, 152 member-states including in favour of the Global Compact, 5 countries including the United States, Czech Republic, Hungary, Israel and Poland opposed it. 12 countries abstained, including Australia, Singapore and South Africa.

The WTO

When negotiations to create the WTO succeeded in 1995, one important area of international cooperation on labour flows was under the General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS). Popularly known as the “Mode 4” or “Movement of Natural Persons”, this mode enables service providers to regulate the entry of skilled labour as service providers. India is generally looked at as the “voice of Mode 4” in WTO negotiations.

The flow of labour across borders through the WTO has sought to be regulated through two broad categories - intra-corporate transferees, which cover the movement of employees of a company across borders to that company’s establishment in the receiving country, and highly skilled persons for whom the receiving country may allow entry for limited time to deliver specialized services. During the WTO’s ongoing Doha Round of Trade Negotiations, attempts by India in the 1990s to have the potential to significantly export skilled manpower have been restricted by most large economies, including the United States, China and the European Union. However, in 2003, the World Trade Organization Conference of December 2005 resulted in an agreement to intensify the negotiations on increased market access for trade in services in accordance with a set of modal objectives. On Mode 4, the Ministerial Declaration called for, among other things, new and improved commitments on categories of persons linked not only as well as dis-linked from commercial presence, but also from the reduction/elimination of economic needs tests and the extension of the permitted duration of stay.

However, in addition to limiting access to certain categories of persons most importing countries often inscribe restrictions in their schedules of commitments in categories of persons linked to the delivery of services. The WTO Secretariat identifies such restrictions to include: defined duration of stay; quotas, including on the number or proportion of foreigners employed in certain occupations; and corporate presence (a test that conditions market access upon the fulfillment of certain economic criteria) or labour market tests”, generally inscribed without any indication of the criteria of application; pre-employment conditions; residency and training requirements.

India is one of the major demanders for the opening of global markets for exports of services. India’s experience of leveraging her competitive advantage in exports of Information Technology Enabled Services or IT/ITeS sector has seen her exports of IT/ITeS services generate annual revenues of more than $120 billion. In 2018, employing the services of almost 3 million people. Other sectors of international trade in services where India has an interest in the opening of markets on a fair and transparent basis include telecommunication, medical, architecture, education, management, tourism, culture and the new area of digitally driven services in the area of electronic commerce.

The Way Forward

On 16 September 2019, the UNGA endorsed the ILO’s Centenary resolution, which advocated a “human-centred approach to the future of work, through investing in people, institutions and sustainable growth”. This is the test ahead for India’s labour policies as she adapts and integrates new emerging technologies with her competitive “demographic dividend” in transforming India’s work force.

3. The provisionally selected candidates will be sent call letters through post and email as per address mentioned in their application forms. The candidates are to report to the venue on the date and time indicated in the call letters for pre-recruitment formalities. Candidates may have to stay one or two days for completion of verification of candidature hence candidates should make their own arrangements accordingly. (A separate notice for venue, date and time would also be published shortly in www.bhartisvaa.com)

4. The final appointment of the candidates would be subject to successful verification of documents / certificates including character and antecedent and medical certificates issued by Competent Authority. It should be noted that merely calling candidates for verification of the documents does not in any way entitle them for an employment / appointment in Indian Navy.

5. The following candidates have been placed in Provisional Wait List in order of merit in their respective categories are over and above the number of vacancies notified to avoid shortfall in the panel. These candidates may be called separately, in case of ineligibility / non-reporting of the selected candidates, for which time and venue details would be intimated separately by E-mail and post.

Q17. Raju has Rs. 9000 with him and he wants to buy a mobile handset; but he finds he can buy only 75% of the amount required to buy the handset. Therefore, he borrows Rs. 2000 from a friend. Then
(a) Raju still does not have enough amount to buy the handset.
(b) Raju has exactly the same amount as required to buy the handset.
(c) Raju has enough amount to buy the handset and he will have Rs. 500 with him after buying the handset.
(d) Raju has enough amount to buy the handset and he will have Rs. 1000 with him after buying the handset.

Q18. In 2002, Meenu's age was one-third of the age of Meera. Then in 2010, Meenu's age was half the age of Meera. What is Meenu's year of birth?
(a) 1992 (b) 1994
(c) 1996 (d) 1998

Q19. Rakesh and Rajesh together bought 10 balls and divided them. Rakesh spent Rs. 1300 and Rajesh spent Rs. 1500. If each racket costs three times the price of a ball, does what is the price of a racket?
(a) 10 (b) 90 (c) Rs. 210 (d) Rs. 240

Q20. In a conference, out of a total 106 participants, 70 are males. If 60% of the total participants are vegetarian, then which of the following statements is correct?
1. At least 30 Indian participants are vegetarian.
2. At least 10 Indian participants are non-vegetarian.

Select the correct answer among the codes given below:
(a) only statement 1 is sufficient
(b) only statement 2 is sufficient
(c) both 1 and 2 are sufficient
(d) neither 1 nor 2

Q21. Which one of the following statements is the most logical and rational corollary to the above passage?
(a) Development of enabling technologies in India can be a big boost to its manufacturing sector.
(b) India is not yet fully ready to adopt IoT in view of the imminent security challenges.
(c) Life becomes more comfortable due to the development of cheap low-end IoT devices.
(d) As we do digital, we must recognise the huge threat to Internet security from some IoT devices.

Q22. Passage - 2
With the digital phenomenon restructuring most social sectors, it is little surprise that global trade negotiations are now eying the Internet of Things (IoT) in an attempt to pre-emptively colonise it. Big Data is freely collected or mined from developing countries and converted into digital intelligence in developed countries. This intelligence begins to flow to different sectors and extract monopoly rents. A large foreign company providing cab service, for instance, is not a network of cars and drivers; it is digital intelligence about commuting; public transport, roads, traffic, city events, personal behavioural characteristics of commuters and drivers and so on. WWW.Jobriya.com
Q23. Which one of the following is the most logical and rational corollary to the above passage?
(a) Supporting small farmers is a significant part of the agenda regarding environmentally sustainable development.
(b) Poor countries have little role to play in the mitigation of global warming.
(c) Due to a large number of farmer households, India will not have food security problem in the foreseeable future.
(d) Only small-holders in India can ensure food security.

Q24. The above passage implies that
1. There is a potential problem of food insecurity in India.
2. India will have to strengthen its disaster management capabilities.
Which of the above assumptions is/are valid?
(a) 1 only (b) 2 only
(c) Both 1 and 2
(d) Neither 1 nor 2

Q25. Passage - 4
A changing climate, and the eventual efforts of governments (however reluctant) to deal with it, could have a big impact on investors' returns. Companies that produce or use large amounts of fossil fuels will face higher taxes and regulatory burdens. Some energy producers may find it impossible to exploit their knowledge and resources for "stranded assets" - deposits of oil and coal that have to be left in the ground.

Q26. On the basis of the above passage, the following assumptions have been made:
1. Governments and companies need to be adequately prepared to face the climate change.
2. Extreme weather events will reduce the economic growth of various countries and companies in future.
3. Ignoring climate change is a huge risk for investors. Which of the above assumptions is/are valid?
(a) 1 and 2 only (b) 3 only
(c) 1 and 3 only (d) 2 and 3

Passage 5
Access to schooling for those coming of school age is close to universal, but their access to quality shows a sharp gradient with socio-economic status. Quotas for the weaker sections in private schools is an option implicit in the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. The quotas have improved a degree of social integration and equity in education that private actors had escaped by and large. The idea of egalitarian education and equality of opportunity as its primary goal appears to be outside the space that private princely inhabits. Therefore, the imposition of the quotas has led to resistance, sometimes justified.

Q27. With reference to the above passage, the following assumptions are valid:
1. Making equality of opportunity a reality is the fundamental goal of the Indian education system.
2. The present Indian school system is unable to provide egalitarian education.
3. Abolition of private schools and establishment of government schools is the only way to ensure egalitarian education.
Which of the above assumptions is/are valid?
(a) 1 and 2 only (b) 2 only
(c) 1 and 3 only (d) 3 only

Q28. Which one of the following is the most logical, rational, and crucial message conveyed by the above passage?
(a) TB is not a curable disease in Indian circumstances.
(b) Curbing TB is more than just diagnosis and medical treatment.
(c) Government's surveillance mechanism is inefficient, and poor people have no access to treatment.
(d) India will be free from diseases like TB only when its primary health alleviation programmes are effectively and successfully implemented.

Q29. A five-storied building with floors from I to V is painted using four different colours and only one colour is used to paint any floor of any colour. Consider the following statements:

1. The middle three floors are painted in different colours.
2. The second (II) and the fourth (IV) floors are painted in different colours.
3. The first (I) and the fifth (V) floors are painted red.

To ensure that any two consecutive floors have different colours
(a) Only statement 2 is sufficient
(b) Only statement 3 is sufficient
(c) Statement 1 is not sufficient, but statement 1 along with statement 2 is sufficient
(d) Statement 3 is not sufficient, but statement 3 along with statement 2 is sufficient

Q30. P, Q and R are three towns. The distance between P and Q is 60 km, whereas the distance between P and R is 80 km. Q is in the West of P and R is in the South of P. What is the distance between Q and R?
(a) 140 km (b) 130 km
(c) 110 km (d) 100 km

Q31. All members of a club went to Mumbai and stayed in a hotel. On the first day, 80% went for sightseeing. On the second day, 20% members went for sightseeing, whereas 10% took rest in the hotel. Which of the following conclusion(s) can be drawn from the above data?
1. 40% members went for sightseeing as well as sightseeing.
2. 20% members went for only shopping.
Select the correct answer using the code given below:
(a) 1 only (b) 2 only
(c) Both 1 and 2
(d) Neither 1 nor 2
Courses like Masters in Financial Management/Marketing Management / Human Resource Management etc. are also available. Technically there is hardly any difference between MBA (HR) and Masters in Human Resource Management.

It is important to note that not all specializations are available at all the institutes. Due care should be taken to check for a specialization. It shouldn’t be a random choice. For example if you’re not much comfortable with charts, graphs and calculations, better to choose another specialization than finance. Many students go to find their specialization with maximum job opportunities and choose specialization accordingly which is not a healthy practice. More important is to keep your aptitude and interest in mind.

Even for BBA, a few institutes have come up with narrow specialization like Banking, insurance etc.

Entrance tests for management courses: Common Aptitude Test, CAT for short, is the flagship test, conducted by IIMs and its various IIMs. However most of the other management institutes also consider CAT score of candidates. Those willing to MBA from other institute will also pursue appear in CAT even if IIM is not on their心头. If you’re too busy to test and top scorers in CAT are admitted to IIMs.

All India Management Institute (AIMA), New Delhi conducts a Management Aptitude Test (MAT) which is accepted by a number of institutes in the country. Similarly Association of Indian Management Schools (AIMS) has been conducting ATMA for past many years.

Some state governments (Maharashtra, Telangana, Karnataka, Himachal Pradesh, Odisha, Tamilnadu etc.) conduct a Common Entrance Examination (CET) for admission to identified institutes in their state. A number of colleges/universities have their own written examination.

Specialization: At postgraduate level, students are required to choose their specialization in a particular branch of management. A list of specializations compiled from websites of different institutes is given below:

- Finance
- Marketing
- Human Resources
- Information Technology
- Operations/Logistics
- Rural Agri-business
- Pharmaceutical
- Travel & Tourism
- Family Business
- Banking
- Insurance
- Risk
- International Business Development
- Materials
- Cooperative
- Healthcare
- Hospital
- Data Analytics
- Business Analytics
- Construction

The first four are most common specializations.

Cost factor: There is wide variation in the fee charged for a management degree across institutions. In some cases it’s indeed exorbitant and difficult to afford by middle and low income families.

Though banks are willing to provide you education loan, it needs to be remembered that payment of loan instalments has to begin immediately after your taking up a job or 6 months after completing the course; whichever is earlier. At older age of 25, you can be made to do a much less fee and it is a good idea to get into places like Faculty of Management Studies, University of Delhi/Banaras Hindu University etc.

Specialized Institutions: Given below is an indicative list of some management institutes which are known for their management degree with particular specializations.

Institute of Rural Management, Anand Entrepreneurship Development Institute IIDs: A number of Indian Institute of Foreign Trade, New Delhi, Kolkata Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai/ Tulajapur National Institute of Securities Market, Mumbai National Institute of Bank Management, Pune National Institute of Agricultural Extension Management, Hyderabad (Loknayak)

Fellow/Research Programme in Management: IIMs and other institutes, like Xavier Labour Relations Institute, Jamshedpur have a fellow programme in management which can be pursued after a postgraduate degree in management.

Cost factor: However, the suitable candidate fulfills other requirements. It is a full time programme, good for those who are academically inclined. Mostly it is a programme with stipend which covers living expenses, cost of books etc. Similarly research opportunities are also available at IIMs, universities etc. leading to a Ph.D. qualification. IIM, Ahmedabad offers Ph.D. in Business policy, Economics, Finance, Information Management, Organizational behavior, Public system etc.

How a Management qualification helps: As is commonly known management has mainly four functions: planning, organizing, directing and controlling. Management courses are designed to teach business theories, models of management, strategic thinking, resource utilization and optimization, funds management, corporate social responsibility, business laws and ethics, corporate governance, managerial styles, delegation, sustainability and creating shareholder value among others. As per current trends more emphasis is being given on developing soft skills in the students and grooming them with leadership training.

Accreditation /Recognitions: Universities Grants Commission (UGC) is the regulating authority for universities in India. Many deemed and private universities have been established under state laws or statutes. University affiliated colleges have to strictly follow the MBA curriculum prescribed by the parent university.

All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) has been established by the government to ensure quality of technical courses being offered in the country. AICTE has prescribed norms with regard to physical infrastructure, faculty, curriculum etc. which are taken into consideration before recognition is offered. All aspiring management students will do well to check their official website to find out valuable information about management education in the country.

Reality check: There are various misconceptions about a management degree and career opportunities after that. It is to be noted that only having a management degree is not a guarantee to a high salary. Even if you have a degree, you’ll be required to prove your worth to the employing organization.

The rosy picture of placements by private institutes may be misleading. The promise of ‘100 percent placement’ by an institute does not necessarily mean that all its students can find well paying and decent jobs. Since there are less jobs than the number of applicants, many companies try to exploit management graduates with low pay and tough working conditions. Many of the management graduates are working in government banks and insurance companies where entry with a simple graduation is also possible.

On the other hand, a management degree may prepare you for a global career. Even for those who decide to start their own venture, undergoing a management course may prove to be handy. As you might have seen, most of the modern management courses are management graduates as their promoters.

If you join a management course make best use of the learning opportunities and build your personality with values and confidence to face the corporate world or work on your own.

■ Prime Minister Narendra Modi held a series of bilateral meetings on the sidelines of the 74th United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) in New York. The leaders with whom he held such bilateral meetings included the Prime Ministers of Belgium, New Zealand and Armenia, and President of Estonia. In his meeting with the Armenia PM Nikol Pashinyan, Mr Modi stressed on the need to considerably enhance the volume of bilateral trade and investment. PM Modi also sought Armenia's support for concluding an expeditious trading arrangement between India and the Eurasian Economic Union (EAEU) of which Armenia is a member. Mr Modi also thanked Pashinyan for Armenia's consistent support for India's candidature for the permanent membership of an expanded UN Security Council. Mr Modi discussed bilateral ties during his meeting with New Zealand Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern. During the meeting with his counterpart from Belgium Charles Michel, the two leaders agreed to intensify efforts on early conclusion of negotiations on the bilateral investment and trade agreement and enhance closer cooperation on counter-terrorism, multilateral institutions and migration and mobility. Mr Modi's fourth bilateral of the day was with President of Estonia Kersti Kaljulaid.

■ Prime Minister Narendra Modi was conferred the "Global Goalkeeper" award by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation for the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan launched by his government. Mr Modi dedicated the award to those Indians who transformed the Swachh Bharat campaign into a "people's movement" and accorded topmost priority to cleanliness in their day-to-day lives. Speaking on the occasion, Prime Minister said, when 130 crore people take a pledge, any challenge can be overcome. Mr Modi said, over 11 crore toilets were built in the country in the last five years, which is a record. Prime Minister said, the poor people and the women of India were benefitted the most by it.

■ The social media platforms will observe a voluntary code of ethics in the ongoing Haryana and Maharashtra Assembly polls as well as in all future elections. The Internet and Mobile Association of India and social media platforms Facebook, Whatsapp, Twitter, Google, Sharechat and TikTok have agreed to observe the code of ethics during the elections. Under it, social media platforms have created a high priority dedicated grievance redressal channel for taking prompt action on the cases reported by the Election Commission. The social media platforms and the Commission have developed a notification mechanism by which poll panel can notify the platforms for potential violations of electoral laws.

■ Centre has approved construction of 1.23 lakh more houses under Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Urban). The 47th Central Sanctioning and Monitoring Committee approved 630 proposals from participating states for construction of 1.23 lakh houses with an overall investment of 4,988 crore rupees. An official release pointed out that the government from central as assistance will be 1,805 crore rupees.

■ The Centre has instituted the highest civilian award for contribution to the unity and integrity of India in the name of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel. The award seeks to recognize notable and inspiring contributions to promote the cause of national unity and integrity and to reinforce the value of a strong and united India. The award will be announced on the occasion of the National Unity Day on the birth anniversary of Sardar Patel on 31st of October. The award will be conferred by the President at a presentation ceremony along with the Padma awards at Rashtrapati Bhawan. An official release said, an Award Committee would be constituted by the Prime Minister, which would include the Cabinet Secretary, Principal Secretary to the Prime Minister, Secretary to the President, Home Secretary as Members and three-four eminent persons selected by the Prime Minister. The award would consist of a medal and a citation. No monetary grant or cash award would be attached to this Award.

■ The Authority of India (AAI) has taken up projects of Rs. 3,500 crore for expansion and upgradation of the airports in the North East region. According to the Regional Executive Director of AAI Sanjeev Jindal, AAI has allocated Rs 1,250 crore for Guwahati airport, Rs 650 crore for Imphal (Manipur), Rs 500 crore for Agartala (Tripura), Rs 650 crore for a Greenfield airport at Hollongi in Arunachal Pradesh, and Rs 450 crore for Lengpui Airport in Mizoram and other airports in the region. He said that all modern facilities would be installed in these airports as several international airlines have shown interests to operate flights from the region. He said that the air connectivity developments in North East Region will soon play a ‘change agent’ role towards overall development of the region in terms of tourism industry, industrialization, trades, and employment generation etc.

■ Moody's Investors Service has termed the central government's decision to cut corporate tax rate as a credit positive move. The rating agency said that the tax cut would give a boost to net income of Indian firms. Speaking to media, senior vice president of the Moody's Investors Service Vikas Halan said, that eventual impact of the corporate tax cut on credit profiles of Indian corporates will hinge on whether they utilise the surplus earnings for reinvestment in the business, debt reduction or high shareholder returns. Moody's said, the cut in corporate tax is credit positive for companies because it will enable them to generate higher post-tax incomes. The government, slashed the income tax rate for companies by almost 10 percentage points to 25.17 per cent and offered a lower rate to 15.01 per cent for new manufacturing firms to boost economic growth.
