SAFEGUARDING CONSUMER RIGHTS

Dr. Sheetal Kapoor
WWW.JOBRiya.in

The consumer movement is a social movement which involves all actions by the manufacturers, service providers and the government to protect the rights of the consumers. ‘Consumer protection’ involves assurance against anti-consumer practices by the traders and producers. Anti-consumer practices may include providing defective products, deficiency in services, adulterated products, sub-standard quality, restrictive trade practices, fractional weights and measures, overcharging, counterfeits and duplicate products, fake websites, misleading and unfair trade practices. Thus, curbing such wrong practices and providing speedy redressal to consumers is a part of consumer protection. 24th December is celebrated as the National Consumer Day. On this day in 1986, the Consumer Protection Act, 1986, has been a benevolent legislation protecting the rights of the consumers and providing compensation to them through quasi-judicial authorities popularly known as consumer courts or consumer forums. But of late, there has been a sea change in market practices and the consumers today face new challenges in case of direct selling, online transactions. The Consumer Protection Act, 1986 in present times had thus, become outdated creating a need for a new law. Thus the Consumer Protection Act, 2019 came into force on 9th August 2019. The Consumer Protection Act, 2019, provides mechanisms for making the consumer complaint system more robust. The earlier Act faced certain anomalies where the problems of consumers related to e-commerce, product liability, a burden of more than 4.3 lakh pending consumer cases in the consumer courts, misleading advertisements were not attended instantly. Since, Justice delayed is justice denied any delay in seeking redressal reduces their trust in the system.

New mechanisms such as Central Consumer Protection Authority, product liability, mediation centres attached to consumer commissions, class action suits are now a part of the Consumer Protection Act, 2019.

Another innovative mechanism aimed at protecting consumer rights is the Consumer App. In order to help consumers to seek advice and register their complaints, the Department of Consumer Affairs launched a Consumer App on 01-10-2019. The App is available in both Hindi and English on Android as well as iOS platform. Through the Consumer App, a consumer can register its complaint/grievance and also give suggestions. In the month of October, almost 3020 complaints were received, out of which 2000 complaints have been resolved. The App aims at giving a fair resolution within 60 days.

Key highlights of the Consumer Protection Act.
1. Establishment of Consumer Commissions: To provide inexpensive, speedy and summary redressal of consumer complaints.
2. Establishment of Central Consumer Protection Authority: To provide inexpensive, speedy and summary redressal of consumer complaints.
3. Appointment of Consumer Advocates: To provide inexpensive, speedy and summary redressal of consumer complaints.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES IN ANIMAL NUTRITION

Indian Animal Feed Market:
• Drivers
  - The population in India is expected to increase continuously in the medium and long terms. This will create a strong demand for eggs, meat, milk, etc., in turn increasing the demand for animal feed.
  - The Indian government along with private initiatives are increasing the awareness of better feed practices among farmers. Farmers are getting more aware about animal health and the importance of a balanced and nutritional food for their animals.
  - Apart from domestic consumption, Indian exports of animal feed are rising and will also represent an important growth driver during the next five years.
  - Changing lifestyles and rising per capita incomes in India have resulted in a shift in the dietary habits in the country. This has resulted in an increase in the consumption of milk and meat, leading to a growing demand for animal feed.

Veterinarians are basically animal doctors who diagnose and prescribe treatment for animals. They diagnose, treat, and research medical conditions and diseases of pets, livestock, and other animals. Amongst the various divisions of Veterinary Science and Animal Husbandry, Animal Nutrition is a very important aspect and hence keeping in view its impact, a separate department for imparting the degree has been in force for decades. However, being the non-clinical aspect of Veterinary Science, it has not received much attention albeit having been an important job provider and large scope.

M.V.Sc. in Animal Nutrition is a 2 years full time Post-graduate course which is divided into 4 semesters. The objective is to provide students opportunities to
