NITI Aayog has championed the use of data in all spheres of governance. It has taken the lead in providing the nation with a simple and compelling platform where various datasets can be accessed together. There has been a longstanding gap in the data ecosystem, which has been sought to be addressed.

All datasets are not published in a user-centric manner that is analyzable and visually presented. Also, there are various datasets that can be accessed together. The National Data and Analytics Platform (NDAP) proposes a simple, interactive, visual, and robust platform that will host various Central and State government datasets.

NDAP will spearhead the standardization of formats in which data is presented across sectors and will cater to a wide audience of policymakers, researchers, innovators, data scientists, journalists and citizens.

India has made tremendous progress in generating and using data for policymaking and programme implementation. Efforts are needed to further strengthen the data ecosystem. NDAP, with its mission to be a one-stop and user-friendly data platform, will go a long way in transforming India’s data ecosystem.

Overview

The vision is clear. The data landscape can improve. All public government data should be easily accessible to all stakeholders in a user-friendly manner. Further, data across sectors should be coherent to support analysis and dissemination. In addition, there should be easy access to the most recent data, published reliably.

In the modern economy, there is a lot of opportunities open to the students and the Banking Sector is the most lucrative option if you have a penchant to help others discover the best ways to get substantial returns on their nest eggs, are intrigued by analyzing risk, or are interested in helping businesses, or sell other businesses, then consider a career in Investment Fund Management.

Who is an Investment Fund Manager?

An Investment Fund Manager is someone who manages funds and investments for his or her clients in order to bring in the highest possible return on their money. They are responsible for managing the funds given to them by clients in an appropriate manner, taking into consideration the client's tolerance for risk, as well as the client's eventual goals and future plans.

Fundamentally, Investment Fund Managers take large amounts of money and invest it so that they can earn money for their clients. Investment fund managers provide financial advice and services to private and corporate clients about a range of investment matters, including buying and selling investment trusts and shares or bonds, to help these clients invest their money in the best places.

An Investment Fund Manager is someone who manages funds and investments for his or her clients in order to bring in the highest possible return on their money. They are responsible for managing the funds given to them by clients in an appropriate manner, taking into consideration the client's tolerance for risk, as well as the client's eventual goals and future plans.

Investment Fund Managers work very closely with investment analysts - Fund Managers make decisions about investments, while analysts provide them with financial information and recommendations that enable such decisions to be made. A Fund Manager is responsible for implementing a fund's investing strategy and managing its portfolio trading activities. The fund can be managed by one person, by two people as co-managers, or by a team of three or more people.

An investment Fund Manager is responsible for researching different types of investments in order to determine the best possible options for his/her clients. They understand their client's preferences (including how much risk the client is comfortable with), and try to find the right mix of investments, while also maximizing the return on their investments.

Investment Fund Managers need to market their services, their knowledge, and their connections in order to acquire new clients. They then help these potential clients understand why investing with a fund manager is best for them. They must also continue to keep their current clients involved and confident in the state of their funds by...

NDAP will provide access to data from multiple sectors in one place. Data will be sourced from different Central and State Ministries and Departments. This will be presented using a common schema, with clear definitions and narratives to help the user navigate the differences between similar data from different sources. NDAP will be a reliable platform for up-to-date data. Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) will be developed to keep data updated. There will be regular tracking of compliance to these SOPs. Further, APIs, web-crawling and other methods will be used to keep the data fully up-to-date.

Success of NDAP relies on effective collaboration. NDAP goes beyond just developing a platform and will require extensive consultation. Inputs will be needed from data producers in the government to identify data sources and develop data processing techniques for the datasets to be coherent. Regular feedback from users — policymakers, bureaucrats, researchers, innovators, data scientists, journalists, and citizens — will also assist in ensuring the platform stays relevant.

NDAP has the potential to transform data-driven discourse, research, innovation, and decision-making in India. There are a large number of benefits for up-to-date and reliable data. NDAP’s vision is to democratise access to public government data and provide a worldclass user experience. We strongly believe it will be an important tool for the nation’s progress.

- Project Management Unit

- Technology Vendor

A technology vendor will be engaged for development and operation of NDAP.

- Technical Advisory Group

Additional members would be added as the platform matures. Omidyar Network India has selected IDInsight to provide support to NITI Aayog for this initiative.

Way Forward

The first version of National Data and Analytics Platform is proposed to be released in 2021. NDAP is a pan-India initiative by NITI Aayog. Its success requires extensive support and cooperation of various stakeholders such as Central Ministries, State Governments and guidance from experts to realise the vision and meet the timelines.

INVESTMENT FUND

periodically meeting with them to discuss the progress of their investments and provide reports and charts illustrating their performance.

It is the job of an Investment Fund Manager to manage the investments of their clients, whether they are individuals or businesses. They are responsible for their client’s money and must thus be very careful that they only grow their investments, and not the other way around.

Investment Fund Managers usually have a place in senior management, and make financial decisions that are very difficult to make for money for their clients. It is their job to invest in different financial markets such as stocks, bonds, money market funds etc.

Investment Management is Fascinating:

Investment Managers give people and companies advice on what to do with their money. This involves a kind of detective work that will be different each time you do it as you match investments with your clients. One day you may be helping a fashion designer, and the next day, it’s a company that built an app to help disaster victims find relief and shelter. Every day is different, and, since investments can be affected by global events, extreme weather, and unpredictable things like human emotions, there is no time to be bored. You have to keep coming up with new and different investment strategies and ways to direct funds on behalf of clients.

What Investment Fund Manager Do?

Investment Fund Managers plan out an investment plan for their clients and depending upon the individual or business’s needs, the Fund Manager will evaluate which investment options are best suited for that client. It is the goal of an Investment Fund Manager to make their client's assets grow. They must meet the client to determine what investment strategy will fit their needs.

• Researching various stocks or funds that may be in the news for recent product developments, earnings statements, or other reasons so as to attempt to extract maximum value from a potential or current investment.

• Researching potential individuals or companies to target as potential clients.
