INNOVATIONS FOR SUSTAINABLE ENERGY TRANSITION

Dr Ranjeet Mehta

India is home to 18% of the world’s population, but consumes only 6% of the world’s primary energy. This, however, is rapidly changing and the energy landscape in India is evolving like never before. Energy, today, is considered crucial to achieve India’s development ambitions, to support an expanding economy, to bring electricity to rural areas, to fuel the demand for greater mobility and to develop the infrastructure needed to meet the demands of what is soon expected to be the world’s most populous country.

The paradigm shift in the Indian energy sector will increasingly influence and shape the global energy economy. We plan to reduce the emission intensity of its GDP by 33 - 35% by 2030 from the 2005 level. The Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE) has taken several steps to fulfill the dream of a clean energy future for the New India. The largest renewable capacity expansion programme in the world is being taken up by India. The government is aiming to increase share of clean energy through massive thrust in renewables. Core drivers for development and deployment of new and renewable energy in India have been Energy Security, Electricity Shortages, Climate Change etc. The Government of India has set a target of 175 GW renewable power capacity by the end of 2022. This includes 60 GW from wind power, 100 GW from solar power, 10 GW from biomass power and 5 GW from small hydro power.

With less than a month remaining for IAS mains-2020, it is imperative that the aspirants maximize their performance by devising a sound strategy taking into account various factors that determine success in clearing this stage and qualify for the personal interview. Qualifying in prelims itself is a challenge and therefore, for those who have made it to mains this year, it is an opportunity that must be utilized to the fullest. This calls for approaching the main exam with right strategy. The mains syllabus is huge. In all, there are four General Studies papers. In each of these papers, more than two subjects have been combined. GS paper one consists of history, art and culture, geography and social issues. These four GS papers present a formidable challenge in terms of mastering each area in a short span of time.

This year, UPSC declared prelims results early and has thus given more preparation time to candidates. However, the need for a well thought out strategy remains valid.

Though a balanced preparation of all four GS papers is an absolute requirement, at the same time, one must apply one’s mind on how to get high marks from some substantial portions of the main syllabus. A good strategy is to secure good marks by giving more attention to the optional paper, ethics and essay papers. Given the fact that the optional paper has a well defined syllabus and requires preparation from standard text books on the subject, the more the input in your optional paper, the more the output (i.e. marks). Without commanding your optional paper, you can not expect to qualify the main exam. Then, among the compulsory papers, ethics and essay papers offer great opportunities to score high marks. This is so because of following reasons:

1. Unlike other papers, these two papers do not require multiple disciplines to cover.
2. These two papers can give you a very big lead over other competitors because most candidates score below average marks in these two papers due to lack of requisite insights and skills.

ETHICS PAPER

Understanding its nature:
1. The syllabus of Ethics is indicative in nature. It means that the chapters mentioned in the syllabus only indicate the broad topics. For details, one has to make one’s own subtitles within those topics on which questions will be framed. For example, the very first chapter of the syllabus talks about ethics and its human interface. This description of the syllabus is only indicative. It should be understood in a detailed manner in this way: origins of ethics, types of ethics, how it has a bearing on our personal, social and professional life. Also, how ethics can be its practical application into our personal, social and professional life. Also, how ethics can be used in practical applications.

the last six years, over 4.7 lakh crore were invested, making the country a preferred destination for investment in clean energy. It is extremely important to note that the RE-invest also sent signals to the global renewable community about India’s commitment to the development and scaling up of renewable energy to meet its energy requirements in a sustainable manner.

During the inaugural session, Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi expressed high hopes about the progress of renewable energy sector, especially the mindset change from MW to GW in spirit and reality on the ground. He pointed out that India's generation capacity and notional capacity was expected to ensure every citizen of India has access to electricity. He mentioned that India’s renewable power capacity is the 4th largest in the world and is growing at the fastest speed among all major countries. The renewable energy capacity in India is currently 136 Giga Watts, which is about 36% of total country capacity. He also highlighted that in the last 6 years, India has increased its renewable capacity by two and half times, emphasizing that investing in RE when it wasn’t cheap has made it possible to reduce the prices further.

The Prime Minister also said that after the success of Performance Linked Incentives (PLI) in electronics manufacturing, Government has decided to give similar incentives to high efficiency solar modules. He stressed that ensuring "Ease of doing business" is the utmost priority and dedicated Project Development Cells have been established to facilitate investors. He announced that there are huge renewable energy deployment plans for the next 10 years and it would generate business prospects of the order of around $ 20 billion per year. He invited investors, developers and businesses to join India’s renewable energy journey.

The inaugural session was coordinated by Mr. R.K. Singh, Union Minister for Renewable Energy and Power who informed that while COVID-19 has caused significant disruption, the renewable energy sector has rebounded remarkably. The pace of bidding for RE projects since the lockdown is even faster than in the corresponding period last year. The inaugural session was also attended by Prime Minister of Israel H.E. Mr. Benjamin Netanyahu; Minister of Climate and Energy, Public Utilities, of Denmark, Mr. Dan Jørgensen; Secretary of State and Energy of UK Mr. Alex Sharma. A special video message from H.E. of the Netherlands Mr. Mark Rutte was also delivered.

In his address, the Renewable Energy Minister, Mr. R.K. Singh said that India has very liberal foreign investment policy for renewables, allowing foreign investors, either on their own or in joint ventures with Indian partners, to set up renewable energy based power generation in India. He further said that the efforts are being made by the government for creating an enabling ecosystem for domestic manufacturing of solar PV cells and modules. Governmental schemes have also been created to create a domestic demand and assured market of around 40 GW of domestically manufactured solar PV cells and modules in the country within the next four years.

There is a significant role of renewables in farm sector and Mr. R.K. Singh said that PIM-KUSUM scheme aims to replace 20 lakh diesel pumps with standalone solar pumps, solarize 50 lakh grid connected pumps, and 100 GW decentralized solar power plants in wate

Phase 2

The 3rd Global Renewable Energy Investors’ Meet & EXPO that ended on 26th December 2020 was a grand success with over 1000 participants from across the globe. The event was aimed at promoting renewable energy projects and bringing together investors, developers, and manufacturers from the sector.

The event featured an array of talks, panel discussions, and workshops, covering a wide range of topics from solar and wind energy to biomass and hydrogen. Keynote speakers included government officials, industry leaders, and experts from the field of renewable energy. The event was also a platform for networking and establishing partnerships among participants from different countries.

UNITED NATIONS DECLARES INVEST INDIA THE WINNER OF THE INVESTMENT PROMOTION AWARD 2020

The United Nations (UNCTAD) has declared Invest India- the National Investment Promotion Agency of India- as a winner of the 2020 United Nations Investment Promotion Award. The award ceremony took place on 7th December 2020 at UNCTAD Headquarters in Geneva.

The award recognizes and celebrates the outstanding achievements and best practices of Investment Promotion Agencies (IPAs) across the globe. The evaluation was based on UNCTAD’s assessment of work undertaken by 180 Investment Promotion Agencies.

The COVID-19 pandemic has led to numerous challenges for Investment Promotion Agencies forcing them to shift focus from routine investment promotion and facilitation towards crisis management, notification of government emergency and economic relief measures, provision of crisis support services, and governments’ call to national COVID-19 business response efforts. At this stage, UNCTAD highlighted good practices followed by Invest India, such as the Business Immunity Platform, Exclusive Investment Forum webinar series, its social media engagement and focus on COVID response teams (such as business reconstruction, stakeholder outreach and supplier outreach) created as a response to the pandemic, in its publications. Invest India has also shared its promising long-term and short-term practices being followed for investment promotion facilitation and retention at UNCTAD’s high-level brainstorming sessions.

This United Nations Investment Promotion Award is the most coveted award for Investment Promotion Agencies. UNCTAD is a central agency that monitors performance of IPAs and identifies global best practices. Germany, South Korea, and Singapore have won this award in the past.

Mr. Deepak Bagai, MD & CEO, Invest India said, “The award is a testament to the hard work of Prime Minister’s vision of making India a preferred investment destination. It is an honest tribute to his focus on Ease of Living, Ease of Doing Business and creating an Aatmanirbhar Bharat.”

State Mr. John Kerry as the first US climate envoy.

To conclude, the event provided a great opportunity to various countries, states, businesses, organizations to showcase their strategies, achievements, and investments in the field of renewable energy. The event was a platform for collaboration and cooperation with key stakeholders, including governments, industry leaders, and many other stakeholders from the sector.

A session on ‘One Sun, One World, One Grid’ that seeks to transfer solar power generated in one region to feed the electricity demands of others - was also held during the RE-Invest.

The RE-Invest 2020 event also attended by Prime Minister of Israel H.E. Mr. Benjamin Netanyahu; Minister of Climate and Energy, Public Utilities, of Denmark, Mr. Dan Jørgensen; Secretary of State and Energy of UK Mr. Alex Sharma. A special video message from H.E. of the Netherlands Mr. Mark Rutte was also delivered.

In his address, the Renewable Energy Minister, Mr. R.K. He further said that the efforts are being made by the government for creating an enabling ecosystem for domestic manufacturing of solar PV cells and modules.

A new initiative is also being taken up to make India a major source of renewable energy. The government has already set a target of generating 450 GW of renewable energy by 2030. This target is being achieved through a combination of solar, wind, and biomass energy. The government has also introduced several incentives to encourage renewable energy projects, including tax holidays, subsidies, and incentives for grid connectivity.

The Renewable Energy Minister also said that after the success of Performance Linked Incentives (PLI) in electronics manufacturing, Government has decided to give similar incentives to high efficiency solar modules. He stressed that ensuring “Ease of doing business” is the utmost priority and dedicated Project Development Cells have been established to facilitate investors. He announced that there are huge renewable energy deployment plans for the next 10 years and it would generate business prospects of the order of around $ 20 billion per year. He further said that the efforts are being made by the government for creating an enabling ecosystem for domestic manufacturing of solar PV cells and modules.

There is a significant role of renewables in farm sector and Mr. R.K. Singh said that PIM-KUSUM scheme aims to replace 20 lakh diesel pumps with standalone solar pumps, solarize 50 lakh grid connected pumps, and 100 GW decentralized solar power plants in water landers of farmers within next four years. In addition, initiative to include solarisation of agricultural under the scheme has already been taken which would significantly reduce the subsidy burden of states.

India’s Intended Nationally Determined Contributions (INDCs) states that 40 per cent energy production would be from non-fossil fuel sources. India currently has 38.1 per cent installed capacity from non-fossil fuel sources. Mr. R.K. Singh informed that by 2030, India plans to increase its share to 40% per power generation capacity from renewable sources, which would be 24 per cent higher than the country’s commitment under the Paris Agreement. India is the only G20 country to take actions set to keep the increase in temperature below 2 degrees celsius. New technologies like Green Hydrogen and Green Urea would help in electrifying other major sectors of the country.

Mr. Benjamin Netanyah, Prime Minister of Israel, said that future of the world is clean energy and at present, 10 per cent of energy consumed by Israel comes from solar source and its target is to increase it to 25 per cent by 2030. He also said that the major issue is storage and about 400 start up companies are working in this space with billions of dollars of investment. These startups are expected to bring solutions that will benefit people across the world.

During the special address, the Climate Minister of Denmark, Mr. Dan Jørgensen emphasized on moving towards Green transition for combating climate change issues. RE is also a key to reach the proposed ideas in the Paris Agreement. He emphasized on Denmark-India partnership in green energy, which will help not only in dealing with climate change issues but also in helping in green jobs and so in increasing the economy.

Mr. Alok Sharma, President, COP26 and Secretary, Department of Business, Energy & Industrial Strategy, U.K. said, there is a need to de-carbonise the economy five times faster than we have done in the past. He said that India is a key partner as it has the know-how for a renewable energy revolution through the conception of ISA (International Solar Alliance), increasing its renewable energy capacity by 13 times in the last five years, achieving the lowest tariffs, leading the largest auction model and much more to come.

A session on ‘One Sun, One World, One Grid’ that seeks to transfer solar power generated in one region to feed the electricity demands of others was also held during the RE-Invest.

The RE-Invest 2020 event was organized by Invest India, the National Investment Promotion Agency of India, and was held from 22nd to 26th December 2020.

The event included 6 focused country sessions, alongside over 20 plenary and technical sessions and a special Chief Minister’s plenary session.

It is hoped that the rapidly expanding power sector offers abundant opportunities for the qualified young graduates and post graduates with diversified backgrounds like Engineering, Commerce, Finance, Accounts, Law and Logistics etc. The solar sector has the maximum employment generation potential - as per a study, it is estimated that over one million jobs will be generated to achieve 100 GW grid-connected capacity. 100 GW solar power is expected to create 13 lakh jobs by 2022. From 60 GW wind power 1.83 lakh jobs will be created by 2022.

I.AS MAINS-2020 : STRATEGY FOR ETHICS PAPERS

II. It is less textual and more contextual: unlike other papers of GS, Ethics’ syllabus is not text book oriented rather, it is contextual. Look at the themes of ethics are built around the world itself. So our own experiences with life provide the biggest context to the syllabus. For example, today we are witnessing decline in human values, a moral decline, trust deficit, corruption in public life, etc. These themes become the subject matter of Ethics syllabus. Therefore, rather than looking for test based answers, it is now to find contextual answers to the questions of Ethics.

III. Other components of the syllabus: The syllabus is not exclusively made up of only Ethics topics. There are other components also. For example, emotional intelligence and attitude are topics belonging to social psychology. Similarly, topics dealing with civil services, utilisation of funds, citizen charters, RTI, etc belong to governance issues. The Ethics syllabus is titled: Ethics, Integrity and Aptitude. Not all questions are asked about Ethics angle. Many questions are being asked about India’s governance issues which requires an understanding of how government and its apparatus function and how to improve them. For example, citizen’s charter is a topic related to governance.

Understanding the scope of the syllabus: The Ethics syllabus comprises seven chapters and case studies based on these chapters. Marks are distributed between these two components almost equally. This calls for equal emphasis on both parts of the syllabus. Many candidates ignore case studies and keep preparing only for the first part of the syllabus till the last moment. This results in poor marking in case studies. Hence, due attention should be accorded to both parts of the syllabus.

Topic wise analysis of the ethics syllabus:

Chapter 7: This chapter consists of the bulk of topics on Ethics. One should cover the following topics under this chapter.

1. Ethics and Human Interface: Ethics is not just a discipline of study but is related to human life itself. Reading Ethics is not just about knowing the good but also to become good. This way, Ethics has a deep human interface.

2. Ethics in Personal and Public Life: Under this, one should learn about how ethics navigates both our personal and public lives.

3. Determinants of Ethics: This calls for studying factors like religion, law, customs, various social and legal codes, technology etc. as main determinants of ethics.

4. Dimensions of Ethics: Under this topic, personal, social, professional dimensions of ethics should be comprehended. Also, dimensions like social, economic, and governance environment, and international relations should be covered.

5. Consequences of Ethics: Ethics or lack of it, will both have consequences for our well-being, peace, harmony in social and moral development. How practising ethical life will result in positive changes in life and ignoring it will result in distress, pain, restlessness should be comprehended.

6. Applied Ethics: Though it is not mentioned by chapter one, it is an extensive part of Ethics. The following applied aspects of Ethics should be studied:

   a. Environmental Ethics
   b. Bio-Ethics: Euthanasia, abortion, surrogacy, reproductive technologies, cloning, medical ethics, gene editing
   c. Animal Ethics
   d. Sports Ethics
   e. Business and Corporate Ethics
   f. Media Ethics
   g. Ethics of Artificial Intelligence

7. Human values: Basic values like kindness, love, compassion, friendship, honesty, integrity, must be covered.

8. Family, Society and Educational Institutions as agents of Values: Here, one should highlight the importance of these primary agents of value education. Why they are failing to impart the right human values also needs to be examined.

   Rest of the chapters in the syllabus don’t need to be discarded like the first chapter. The sub-topics enumerated in these chapters should be followed.

However, it is important to familiarise yourself with important Ethics terminologies. These are: Autonomy, Accountability, Altruism, Benevolence, Categorical imperative, Compassion, Conceptualisation, Courage, Deontology, Dilemma, Duty, Empathy, Eudaimonia, Fairness, Feminist Ethics, Forgiveness, Gender, Golden Mean, Good Temper, Goodwill, Happiness, Hedonism, Honesty, Integrity, Internalisation, Intuition, Justice, Kindness, Love, Moral Competence, Non-maleficence, Norm, Patience, Perseverance, Pity, Prudence, Responsibility, Right, Righteousness, Self Control, Sympathy, Temperance, Tolerance, Trust, Trustfulness, Utilitarianism, Virtue, Virtuosity, Wisdom.

Case Studies in Ethics: paper will cover this following in mind:

1. Locate the main issues that need to be solved.
2. Apply relevant ethical principles, rules, procedures to find a solution.
3. Don’t give solutions which are difficult to implement. Use your common sense to find practical solutions.
4. Consider larger public interest while offering solutions.
5. Give reasons for your suggested solutions.
6. Don’t follow a merit-based format of answer unless specifically asked for in the case study.
7. Write every case study in 200-220 words.

Quotations: In the Ethics paper, some quotations are being asked to be explained. For this, you must pick famous quotes of Indian and foreign thinkers, philosophers, administrators. Also, some quotations from the Bible, Thukurral, etc should be compiled and mastered by you.

Finally, if you are able to solve last six years’ questions papers of Ethics, it will help you to cover the entire syllabus.

Good Governance Day

“Empowering the individual means empowering the nation. And empowerment is best served through rapid economic growth with rapid social change.”

Atal Bihari Vajpayee

Good Governance Day is observed annually on December 25 to create awareness of accountability in government among the Indians. The day marks the birth anniversary of former Prime Minister V. P. Singh. National Good Governance Day was established in 2014 to honor Atal Bihari Vajpayee by fostering awareness among the people of accountability in government.

Union Minister Dr. Jitendra Singh launched the ‘Good Governance Day’ campaign on an event organized by the Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances & Pensions, on the occasion of Good Governance Day i.e. 25th December 2019. The objectives of GGI are to provide quantitative data to compare the state of governance in all states and UTs, identify states and UTs to formulate and implement suitable strategies for improving governance and shift to result oriented approaches and administration.

The purpose behind developing a comprehensive index, termed as Good Governance Index is to create a tool which can be used to evaluate uniformly across the States and, eventually District-wise, to assess the status of governance and impact of various interventions taken up by Central and State Governments including Union Territories (UTs).Sectors included in the Index are: Agriculture & Allied Sectors, Commerce and Industries, Human Resource Development, Public Infrastructure & Utilities, Economic Governance, Social Welfare & Development, Judicial & Public Security, Environment and Citizen Centric Governance.
