SWACHH BHARAT: PROVISIONING CLEAN WATER FOR ALL

"Success of democracy is impossible without participation of the people"

- Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi

India is the largest democracy in the world and citizens here are highly enthusiastic to be a part of Governance. In a democratic system, citizen participation is one of the key components of decision making process.

Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi launched the Swachh Bharat Mission on 2 October 2014 to achieve the vision of a ‘Clean India’ and to accelerate the efforts towards achievement of universal sanitation coverage.

While leading the mass movement for cleanliness, the Prime Minister exhorted people to fulfill Mahatma Gandhi’s dream of a clean and hygienic India. By inviting people to participate in the drive, the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan has turned into a National Movement. A sense of responsibility has been evoked among the people through the Clean India Movement. With citizens now becoming active participants in cleanliness activities across the nation, the dream of ‘Clean India’ once seen by Mahatma Gandhi has begun to get a shape.

The Prime Minister has helped spread the message of Swachh Bharat by urging people through his words & action. He carried out a cleanliness drive in Varanasi as well. He wielded a space near River Ganga at Assi Ghat in Varanasi under the Clean India Mission. He was joined by a large group of local people who cooperated in the Swachh Abhiyan.

Understanding the significance of sanitation, Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi has simultaneously addressed the health problems that Indian families have to deal with due to lack of proper toilets in their homes.

The mission was implemented as nation-wide campaign! Jan andolan aimed at eliminating open defecaion in rural areas through mass scale behavior change, construction of household-owned and community-owned toilets and establishing mechanisms for monitoring toilet construction and usage.

People from different sections of the society have come forward and joined this mass movement of cleanliness. From government officials to jawans, Bollywood actors to sportspersons, industrialists to spiritual leaders, all have lined up for the noble work. Millions of people across the

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES IN RISK ANALYSIS AND MANAGEMENT

Vijay Prakash Srivastava

One of the sayings we hear now and then is 'no risk, no gain'. It simply means that in order to achieve something, you need to make certain sacrifices. Even in general terms we keep talking about risks in our personal and social life. For a layman risk may be a generic term but it has many implications and connotations. Let us try to understand the meaning of risk, risk analysis and risk management through a simple example. You need to go out for some work and find that there are dark clouds in the sky suggesting possibility of rain. Now if you go out in the open and it rains, you may get wet (with the chances of falling sick). So venturing out in the rain is taking a risk. You just try to explain yourself whether it may or not rain to decide your future course of action. This act of understanding the possibilities and the fallout of a risk is called risk analysis. Now you decide that your going out is important even if it rains and carry an umbrella or a raincoat to protect yourself from rain. This act of planning to face the eventualities of a risk is known as risk management.

In a wider perspective and when the stakes are high, understanding risks, analyzing and managing them becomes a serious matter. We need risk management skills in our life, but here we’re going to talk about risks in a business and enterprise perspective which may lead to understand what a career in risk management means and how those, who find it interesting, can find their way to it. Before that, two quick things - the path to a career in risk management, in most of the cases is not straightforward. It is not like that you study software engineering and are considered eligible to become a software engineer and that risk management is a career which can be thought of people who have already some experience in the domains linked with risk management and now wish to switch to work in analyzing and managing. For example, a person working in the information technology may take up a role which requires dealing with risks in information technology.

Understanding the nature of risks
A risk is defined in a number of perspectives. Here we're concer...
CAREER OPPORTUNITIES IN RISK ANALYSIS

Risk is an inherent part of the investment and is applicable to the businesses, government, individual and financial markets. It basically represents the chance that the parties involved may lose money. For a government, it could mean a failure of monetary policy and default on bonds or other debt. For companies, it could mean being uneqable to pay a debt or losing value on investments. Mostly financial risk is categorized into systematic or non-systematic. Systematic risk is due to external factors and affects the entire economy, for example economy going into recession. Non-systematic risks affect specific sectors or companies.

Operational Risk: The type of risk that arises out of operational failures such as management or technical failures is known as operational risk. A large number of risks in business and industry occur due to system failures or mistakes committed by people. Example when a power plant stops working and there is no electricity supply to the factory resulting in stoppage of production. Overvaluing an asset is also classified into operational risks. People risk is also considered its part which happens in case of wrong hires or when people in certain roles are not competent to fulfill their assigned responsibilities. Depending on the nature of operational risks, these may be relatively easy to manage.

Market Risk: In broader perspective market risk is a term that encompasses the risk that investments or equities will decline in value due to major economic or market changes or events. Under the coverage of market risk are several kinds of specific risks, including equity risk, interest rate risk and currency risk. Equity risk is the risk that an equity's share price will drop, causing a loss. In a similar vein, interest rate risk is the risk that the interest rate on bonds and other financial instruments will change and change the value of investment. Similarly currency risk, also called exchange-rate risk, applies to foreign investments and the risk associated with exchange rates for currencies when the value of a certain currency like rupee goes up or down in comparison to the U.S. dollar or some other currency.

Reputational Risk: Reputational risk is the potential for any event, controllable or uncontrollable, to damage an organization's reputation. It is the risk to an organization from stakeholder perceptions of its profitability, brand value, reputation, or ability to perform expected corporate function. Regulation risk is also the threat to the sustainability of a business or other entity that is caused by unfavorable public perception of the organization or its products or services. Few years ago reputation of a large multinational company operating in India suffered a big loss as reported, some banned ingredients were found in one of its main products. Similar is the case when whole lot of cars were produced by an automobile manufacturer were found defective.

Further examples of risks are compliance risk, regulatory risk among others.

We shouldn't forget that by and large all the above risks, in some way or another, are linked to other and may have cause and effect relationship. Courses

There are few courses which may directly or indirectly help you to take up a risk manager's role. If you choose to do a Chartered Accountancy course, after getting some experience, you may look forward to work in the area of risk analysis or risk management. NISM's other joint programmes like Certificate in Derivatives Market Strategies, Certification in Equity Trading and Investment and Advanced Certification in Financial Markets may also be of help in few cases. Actuarial Science may form the basis of a risk management career in an insurance company. One has also the option to take up courses purely focused on risk management. These include:

country have been day after day joining the cleanliness initiatives of the government departments, NGOs and local community centres to make India clean. Organising frequent cleanliness campaigns to spreading awareness about hygiene through plays and music is also being widely carried out across the nation.

Swachh Survekshan is an annual survey of cleanliness, hygiene and sanitation in cities and towns across India, launched as part of the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan. The first survey was undertaken in 2016 and covered 73 cities; by 2020 the survey had grown to cover 4242 cities and was said to be the largest cleanliness survey in the world. In a bid to scale up the coverage of the ranking exercise and encourage towns and cities to actively implement mission initiatives in a timely and innovative manner, Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs (MoHUA) is now in the process of conducting the sixth edition of the survey to rank all cities under Swachh Bharat Mission-Urban (SBM-U) with Quality Council of India (QCI) as its implementation partner.

As the Union Government has been working towards making lives better for women across various sections by constructing individual household and community toilets, providing cooking gas, etc. similarly, tap water connections within the household area to reduce drudgery and enhance ease of living for young girls and women who are often burdened with the task of fetching water from the public standpost and walking long distances in search of water. Consumption of contaminated water has adverse impact on our health, especially children. As on 15 August 2019, out of 18.93 crore households, 3.23 crore (17%) had tap water connections. A safe water supply is the backbone of a healthy economy, yet is woefully under prioritized, globally. As per a UNICEF Report, waterborne diseases cause major economic burden annually in India. This is especially true for drought- and flood-prone areas, which affected a third of the nation in the past couple of years.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced Jal Jeevan Mission on 15 August 2019 with an aim to provide Functional Household Tap Connection (FHTC) to every rural household by 2024. Jal Jeevan Mission is under implementation since August 2019, in partnership with the State Governments with an aim to provide potable water in adequate quantity and of prescribed quality on regular and long-term basis.

The unifying efforts of States/UTs have helped Jal Jeevan Mission provide above 3 crore tap water connections since August 2019. Further, 28 districts, 457 Blocks, 34,919 Panchayats and 65,672 villages have become ‘Har Ghar Jal’ meaning every family living in these rural areas is getting assured tap water supply in their homes and ‘no one is left behind’. Goa has become the first State in the country to provide 100% FHTCs and became ‘Har Ghar Jal’ State. Different States are competing with each other and focusing on the set target to ensure that every household in the country gets safe drinking water adhering to the core principle of ‘equality & inclusiveness’.

States are giving priority to water quality-flawed areas, Scheduled Castes/Scheduled Tribes major villages, aspiration districts, village in drought prone and desert areas and quality-affected habitats. The mission is working to ensure that piped water supply reaches the regions affected by fluoride and arsenic at the earliest as well. By providing water at the doorstep, Jal Jeevan Mission is impacting the lives in multiple ways by improving the health parameters and reducing dropout from school among children.

In this spirit, a ‘100-Day Campaign’ was launched on 2 October, 2020 to provide piped water supply to every school, Anganwadi Centre (AWC) and Ashramsewais, i.e. residential schools for children from tribal communities. So far, in 3 months, more than 4.4 lakh rural schools and about 32.73 lakh AWCs have started getting potable tap water. Punjab and Tamil Nadu have become the first States to provide every school with tap water supply. Also, every AWC in Tamil Nadu is provided with tap water.

All water resources are integral to the ethos of the Swachhata campaign. Some other campaigns by the Jal Shakti Ministry include the River Rejuvenation project ‘Namami Gange Programme’, is an Integrated Conservation Mission, approved as ‘Flagship Programme’ by the Union Government in June 2014 with budget outlay of Rs. 20,000 crore to accomplish the twin objectives of effective abatement of pollution, conservation and rejuvenation of National River Ganga. In the budget for the financial year 2020-21, Government of India has proposed an allocation of Rs. 1,00,002 crore for the Namami Gange Programme. In July 2020, the World Bank and the Government of India signed a loan agreement to enhance support for the Namami Gange programme that seeks to rejuvenate the Ganges River. The Second National Ganga Basin River Project will help stem pollution in the iconic river and strengthen the management of the river basin which is home to more than 500 million people.

The main pillars of the Namami Gange Programme are: Water Conservation, River-Flow Development, River-Surface Cleaning, Bio-Diversity, Afforestation, Public Awareness, Industrial Effluent Monitoring, Ganga Gram. Its implementation has been divided into Entry-Level Activities (for immediate visible impact), Medium-Term Activities (to be implemented within 5 years of time frame) and Long-term Activities (to be implemented within 10 years).

The key activities under Namami Gange programme are:

1. Creating Sewerage Treatment Capacity: 63 sewage management projects under implementation in the states of Uttarakhand, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Jharkhand and West Bengal. 12 new sewage management projects launched in these states. Work is under construction for creating Sewerage capacity of 1187.33 Ml/day.

2. Creating River-Front Development: 28 River-Front Development projects and 33 entry level projects for construction, modernization and renovation of 182 Ghatas and 118 crematoria has been initiated.

3. River Surface Cleaning: Collection of floating solid waste from the surface of the Ganges and River and its disposal and shut and pushed into river at 11 locations.

4. Bio-Diversity Conservation: Several Bio-Diversity conservation projects are under implementation, namely: Biodiversity Conservation and Ganga Rejuvenation, Fish and Fishery Conservation, Fish and Fishery Conservation in Ganges River, Ganges River Dolphin Conservation Education Programme has been initiated. Five Bio-Diversity center’s at Dehradun, Naron, Allahabad, Varanasi and Barrackpore have been developed for restoration of identified priority species.

5. Afforestation: Forestry interventions for Ganga through Wildlife Institute of India; Central Inland Fisheries Research Institute and Centre for Environment Education has been initiated.

6. Public Awareness: Various awareness activities through raffles, campaigns, exhibitions, shramdan, cleanliness drives, competitions, plantation drives and development and distribution of resource materials were organized and for wider publicity the mass media were used. Ganga Theme song was released widely and played on digital media to enhance the visibility of the programme.

7. Industrial Effluent Monitoring: The number of Grossly Polluting Industries (GPIs) in April, 2019 are 1072. Regulation and enforcement through regular and surprise inspection of GPIs is carried out for compliance verification against stipulated environmental norms.

8. Ganga Gram: Ministry of Drinking Water and Sanitation (MoDWS) identified 1674 Gram Panchayats situated on the bank of River Ganga in 5 States, namely Uttarakhand, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Jharkhand and West Bengal. Rs. 578 crores has been released to Ministry of Drinking Water and Sanitation (MoDWS) for construction of 1674 Gram Panchayats of 5 Ganga Basin States.
