TRANSFORMING AGRICULTURE INTO A SUSTAINABLE ENTERPRISE

EN Team

Agriculture sector plays a very important role in both economic development and nation building. India is globally at the forefront of development of agriculture. The goal is to achieve doubling of exports by 2022. However, more than 80% of farmers in the country are small and marginal. There is a need to facilitate our farmers with access to improved technology, credit, better input and more markets to incentivize them to produce better quality commodities.

For this, aggregation of small, marginal and landless farmers into FPOs will help enhance economic strength and market linkages of farmers for enhancing their income. Keeping this in mind, the Government of India has launched a new Central Sector Scheme titled “Formation and Promotion of 10,000 Farmer Produce Organizations (FPOs)” with a clear strategy and committed resources, to form and promote 10,000 new FPOs in the country with budgetary provision of Rs. 6000 crore.

FPOs are to be developed in produce clusters, wherein agricultural and horticultural products are grown/cultivated for leveraging economies of scale and improving market access for members. “One District One Product” clusters are being developed to promote specialization and better processing, marketing, branding and export. Under this Central Sector Scheme with funding from Government of India, formation & promotion of FPOs are to be done through the Implementing Agencies (IAs).

Presently, nine agencies have been finalized for formation and promotion of FPOs viz. Small Farmers Agri-Business Consortium (SFAC), National Cooperative Development Corporation (NCDC), National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD), National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation of India (NATED), North Eastern Region Agricultural Marketing Corporation Limited (NERAMAC), Tamil Nadu Small Farmers Agri-Business Consortium (TN-SFAC), Small Farmers Agri-Business Consortium (SPACH), Watershed Development Department (WDD)-Karnataka & Foundation for Development of Rural Value Chains (FDRVC)-Ministry of Rural Development (MoRD).

Implementing Agencies (IAs) will engage Cluster Based Business Organizations (CBBOs) to aggregate, register & provide professional enabling environment that recognizes and rewards original designs. With launch of Make in India campaign, the policy assumes enhanced significance.

Understanding Design

We may define design as the process of envisioning and planning the creation of different objects, systems, buildings, vehicles etc. Design is largely user-centric. This means that users are at the heart of any design. Design is about creating solution for people to address a need or a problem.

Design carries a broad concept and its meaning may vary from one field to another. Many of us relate design with making things look good. But this is limiting the scope and utility of design. Design is not about making things just for the sake of it. As a matter of fact, design doesn’t focus purely on aesthetics, nor is it only about glamourizing things. Its main focus is making the users’ interaction experience with the product, service and

DESIGN: A CAREER FOR CREATIVE MINDS

A question is often raised whether design should be considered an art or a science. There is no straightforward answer to it as design takes inputs from both. As we all know art is about creating something that expresses the artist’s vision, ideas and feelings. Designers express their feelings and leave impression through their work but their prime objective is not this; they use art to craft something. Design uses the problem solving aspect of science and is primarily involved with addressing a particular need. What Steve Jobs had said, beautifully sums it up. “Design is not just what it looks like and feels like. Design is how it works.”

How Design works

Problems are best solved when approached in a comprehensive and systematic way. The goal of this process is to organize the work to turn ideas into concrete solutions. Designers do research and collect information about the problem they are considering such as people engaged in the field. By facing this problem and why? What data is available and what more do we need to work on the solution? From this research, they make a general hypothesis and identify the specific points that should be part of the answer. Then with these key aspects in mind it’s time to experiment different solutions and iterate. This last part is about learning what works and what doesn’t, to adapt the solution to fit the user’s need best.

In many cases design becomes so obvious that we don’t even notice its presence. This is particularly true in interaction design. Navigating a user interface should feel natural and uninvaded. The user should be able to understand its rules and the meaning of its elements almost immediately. The user is guided by an invisible hand made of colours, shapes, contrast, repetitions.

Various Disciplines of Design:

Of the various disciplines of design, some are described below:

Product design: Product design works on product specifications to make it match with clients and users’ requirements. Product designers look into the matters of shape, size, cost, color, and function.

Fashion design: The size of fashion industry is huge and fashion designers work in this industry to create design different kinds of products from clothes to accessories. They study fashion trends to meet the demand and in many cases, create things which later becomes fashion.

Footwear design: Footwear designing can be considered an aspect of fashion and accessories design. A footwear designer develops designs for different types of footwear, researching design ideas, understanding materials and their usage, communicating with customers and suppliers, sketching, working closely with the design team, analyzing requirements as per the need of the market, and developing strategies for all products.

Textile design: Textile Designing is a creative process by which different kinds of clothing is prepared by methods of weaving threads or yarns and also by using dyeing, embroidery and printing methods. Textile designers create products to be used for various purposes such as clothing for day-to-day, on furniture, towels, carpets, rugs, drapes, wallpapers, getting materials and other.

Graphic design: A book cover and how the pages of book look is one of the examples of graphic design, the form of design uses visuals, typography and page layout among other things. These Days, electronic programs and softwares are widely used in design of graphics.

Interior design: Choice of colours, furnishing, specification inside a house, building, office, hotel etc. comes under interior design. An aesthetic feel can be created within any budget which also adds value by better look of the place and enriching the experience in use of the interior.

Landscape design:

Landscape design involves a wide variety of elements to achieve functional and attractive spaces for outdoor living. Professional landscape designers offer a broad range of services to a variety of clients. Well-executed landscape design increases the living experience and also the actual square footage of valuable usable space.

Ceramic design: Ceramic covers a variety of materials like porcelain and terracotta and has been one of the most ancient industries. Ceramic items are created by clay mixed with water, shaped and fired at high temperatures. Ceramic designs work with clay, porcelain, bone china and stoneware to design and create pottery items, tiles, tableware, and cookware.

Industrial design: Creating and developing an improved machine or machine efficiency in industrial set ups is covered under the discipline of designing. Designs of home appliances like washing machines, refrigerators etc. is part of this discipline of design.

TRANSFORMING AGRICULTURE INTO A SUSTAINABLE ENTERPRISE

During 2020-21, a total of 2220 FPO produce-clusters have been identified for formation of FPOs which also include specialized FPO produce clusters such as 100 FPOs for Organic, 100 FPOs for Oil seeds etc. 359 FPOs are targeted during the current year for formation in 115 aspirational districts in the country. NAFED would form the specialized FPOs which should necessarily be formed on cluster basis and Agriculture Infrastructure Funds to be made available for creating infrastructure facilities.

As per the latest information available, the consumption of chemical fertilizers in the country during 2017-18, 2018-19, 2019-20 and 2020-21 (upto kharif 2020) are 64.30, 56.21, 59.88 and 33.55 million tonnes of fertilizer products (Urea, Di-Ammonium Phosphate (DAP), Muriate of Potash (MOP), Compound and Single Super Phosphate (SSP), respectively.

The Government has launched a National Mission on Soil Health Card to promote soil based balanced and judicious fertilizer application in the country. Similarly, organic farming is being promoted under Paramparv Krishi Vikas Yojana (PKVY) and Mission Organic Value Chain (MOVe-Value Chain Development for North East Region (MOVe-VCNEER) in the country. Training and demonstration programmes are organized through ICAR institutions including Krishi Vigyan Kendras (KVKs) and agricultural universities to educate farmers on all these aspects.

Formation and promotion of FPOs is the first step for converting Krishi into Ammanir Krishi. This will enhance cost effective production and productivity and higher net incomes to the members of the FPO. Also improve rural economy and create opportunities for rural youths in villages itself. This is the major step towards improving farmers’ income substantially.

Further, investigations carried out under Indira Gandhi National Tribal University (IGNTU) project ‘Long Term Fertilizer Experiments’ over five decades at fixed sites all over the country have indicated that continuous use of nitrogenous fertilizer alone has deleterious effects on soil health and crop productivity and hence the need for other major and micro-nutrients. Even with recommended doses of NPK and more, deficiency of micro and secondary nutrients has become yield limiting factors over the years. Deficient nutrients not only reduce plant growth and cause plant physiological disorders. There is also possibility of nitrate contamination in groundwater above the permissible limit of 10 mg NO3-N/L due to excessive/over-use of nitrogenous fertilizers, particularly in light textured soils that has consequences on human/animal health if used for drinking purposes. ICAR recommended a balanced and integrated nutrient management through conjuctive use of both inorganic and organic sources of plant nutrients to reduce the use of chemical fertilizers, preventing destruction of soil health and environment, and contamination of groundwater. In addition, split application and placement of fertilizers, use of slow releasing N-fertilizers and nitrication in time and growing leguminous crops and use of Resource Conservation Technologies (RCTs) are also advocated.

Under NCIRA project, wheat germplasm comprising of advanced breeding lines and land races have been screened for heat/drought tolerance. NCIRA, Indian Agricultural Research Institute (IARI) has released the high yielding varieties such as HD 2957 and HD 3036 which are being grown in large areas of North-West and North India. Zero till planting of wheat has advanced the wheat sowing in Punjab and Haryana.

The Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) is engaging in developing high yielding, disease-resistant, and drought-tolerant rice varieties. The ICAR is working to improve animal, animal and fisheries science which have enabled food and nutritional security in the country. During the last three years, a total of 638 high yielding and trait specific varieties have been released from ICAR, of which 578 are climate resistant, 41 short duration and 47 biodiversity varieties. Integrated Farming System (IFS) models (63 IFS) dated 2020-21 ICAR have the potential to enhance the income of farmers. During the last 3 years 18 IFS models, 14 bankable projects on IFS and organic farming packages for 22 cropping systems were developed. During the last 3 years, a total of 77 machines and processing equipment were developed to promote mechanisation of small farms & reduce postharvest losses. Total 101 technologies for processing and on farm value addition were also developed.

Rural Infrastructure Development Fund will be used for Sherman (Single Mission)pursuing the same objective. The Rural Infrastructure Development Fund worth Rs. 70,000 crores.
